Veterans Also Ask Additional Strength For Pacific Forces

Minneapolis — A call for arming American aircraft patrolling near communist territory was among the more than 50 resolutions coming before the American Legion convention today after approval by the national security committee.

A second resolution at the Legion's 41st annual meeting would ask the navy to assign additional patrol units to the north Pacific area to "meet the threat of Soviet activity." Brought in by the Alaskan delegation, the resolution cited increased Russian submarine activity as one reason for the augmented alert.

Recruiting Methods
Other resolutions coming before delegates would:

Set minimum strength of the army at 800,000, the National Guard at 470,000 and marine corps 200,000.

Substitute selective service for present armed forces recruiting methods, which were termed wasteful.

Create a joint congressional committee on cold war strategy.

Require compulsory civil

Ex-Dictator Accused of Theft, Murder

Miami, Fla. — Venezuela's government has 60 days in which to convince a federal court that former Dictator Marcos Perez Jimenez should be sent home to face theft and murder charges.

The plump, 45-year-old exile said even before studying the charges "I am sure they were brought for political motives."

Venezuela's consul at Miami opened his country's campaign to extradite Perez Jimenez by filing a U.S. district court complaint yesterday charging murder, attempted murder and embezzlement. All are extraditable offenses under a 1922 treaty between the United States and Venezuela.

Perez provided $25,000 bond set by Judge Emmett C. Choate and told newsmen covering the court session that the charges were false. He added he has complete confidence in U. S. justice.

Perez Jimenez was arrested by deputy U. S. marshals at his luxurious Miami Beach mansion. He was fingerprinted, booked and held in a detention room for several hours before being brought before Choate.

Perez has been in his Miami exile about 18 months.

President Spans Atlantic Toward Talks With Allies In Bonn, London and Paris

Bonn, Germany — (AP) — President Eisenhower brought his person-to-person diplomacy to Germany tonight and received a hero's welcome in this land he helped conquer 14 years ago.

The presidential jet plane, a 707, landed at nearby Wahn airport (12:26 p.m. CDT) after a flight of 9½ hours from Washington. This elapsed time included an hour spent in a Newfoundland stop for refueling.

Heat Goes On and On

Cool Air Mass Expected Ends Over Wausau

A cool air mass which might have brought relief to the broiling Fox Cities this afternoon weakened and vanished, so the heat wave continues on and on.

The front was expected to move southeastward, coming to a halt just north of Madison and Milwaukee. Temperatures behind the cool air mass, situated over Wausau, are a mere seven to eight degrees cooler, the Green Bay weather bureau said. It will move north again Thursday and leave the same heat and humidity below it, the bureau predicted.

The United States weather bureau previously said the cool air was sweeping the northern tier of states, dropping temperatures as much as 30 degrees in Aberdeen, S. D.

Meanwhile the Fox Cities have had three days—20th, 21st and 25th with a discomfort index of 83, a record for the month. Temperatures have ranged in the high 80s and low 90s since Aug. 17.

There have been seven days above 90 since Aug. 4. Temperatures soared to 94 Tuesday with the discomfort index hovering at 83. Coolest night temperature was 75.

The entire West German cabinet was at the airfield. Eisenhower and Adenauer, accompanied by Gen. Adolf Heusinger, Germany's top soldier, slowly trooped the line of the honor guard.

Took a Salute
Eisenhower took a salute from the honor guard commander and congratulated him. Then he moved along the row of German cabinet officials for another round of handshaking.

Sigmund von Braun, Bonn's protocol chief and brother of the celebrated rocket scientist, Werner von Braun, performed the introduction for Eisenhower.

U. S. Ambassador David K. E. Bruce escorted Eisenhower along the row of American embassy officials.

This small West German capital was a ribbon of color. A few youngsters wandered about the streets waving American flags handed them by representatives of "Germany Indivisible," a local organization.

William R. Kellett New K-C President

Crowell Executive Vice President; Kimberly Reelected Board Head

Neenah — Election of William R. Kellett as president and G. Kenneth Crowell as executive vice president of Kimberly-Clark corporation was announced today at a meeting of the board of directors. John R. Kimberly was reelected chairman of the board and chief executive officer.

Kellett, whose entire career has been with Kimberly-Clark both before and after his graduation from the University of Wisconsin in 1922, succeeds Kimberly as president of the firm. Kimberly has served as president and Kellett as executive vice president since 1953.

Kellett was elected a vice president in 1951.

Crowell had been legal vice president and since 1956 also had served as secretary. Last year he was named to head the financial and comptroller divisions.

Strengthen Management
The board also advanced two vice presidents and elected two new officers. Lewis E. Phenner and Andrew G. Sharp were elected senior vice presidents. New officers are William J. French, vice president of sales for consumer products, and William W. Cross, vice president of sales for industrial products.

Roger A. Baird, assistant secretary, was elected secretary.

Forms Planning Council

'Frisco Bay Area Unites

BY BETTY KILICH

San Francisco — The Fox Cities area may be suffering with a malady common to many economic communities today — the balkanization of states. Although an economic, industrial, business and, often, residential entity, the sovereign communities, whether large or small, refuse to recognize the sum of their parts.

As a result, growth, whether upward or outward, is haphazard, planning is parochial and in a short time the area, whatever its potentialities, finds its youthful growing pains transformed into a senseless senility without ever discovering the satisfaction of a mature adulthood.

This has happened. It's happened in Wisconsin when communities have died rather than thrived together.

It could have happened here in the San Francisco Bay area, despite nature's generous bestowal of resource. But it didn't. And one of the reasons it didn't was the formation of the San Francisco Bay Area council.

Bay Area Council

Like the Fox Cities area, the San Francisco Bay area is not a political, but an economic entity. Nine counties, all of them bordering on San Francisco Bay, are involved and all of them have banded together in an attempt to solve their problems.

The council is by no means a happy, round-singing group, all parts in harmony 100 per cent.

Dave McDonald Rejoins Talks

Steel Strike Now In 43rd Day; No Solution in Sight

New York — David J. McDonald, president of the steelworkers union, returned to steel strike negotiations today. He had walked out almost three weeks ago, calling them a sham.

The strike of a half million steelworkers now is in its 43rd day. No sign of settlement was in sight.

Neither McDonald nor R. Conrad Cooper, chief negotiator for the major steel companies, had any comment as they went into their meeting in the Hotel Roosevelt.

Attending the session with them was Joseph F. Finnegan, head of the federal mediation and conciliation service.

Technical Language
McDonald declared himself yesterday as opposed to any use of the Taft-Hartley act to force the steelworkers back to their jobs.

His opposition just about made it unanimous. R. Conrad Cooper, chief industry negotiator, is on record as opposing any such move. And President Eisenhower at his press conference Tuesday repeated his contention that both sides must solve the problem by collective bargaining.

6-Year-Old Helps Save Mother's Life

New London — A 6-year-old's insistence that her aunt get out of bed saved her mother's life shortly before 9 a.m. today. Her mother had collapsed from heat exhaustion.

When Mrs. Gilbert Radley, Shawano street, began to be ill, she went to her first floor bedroom and told her oldest daughter, Linda, to arouse her sister-in-law, Miss Marcia Radley, asleep in a second floor bedroom.

Miss Radley, who worked until 3 a.m. today at the Hortonville Canning company, was reluctant to get up, but Linda persisted and she came downstairs and called the police.

The police called the fire department and when the department's rescue squad arrived Mrs. Radley had stopped breathing. She was revived by the firemen, who called her physician.

Mrs. Radley was doing housework when she was stricken. She has four small children.

Propose Soviet, U. S. Lawyers Exchange Visits

Miami Beach, Fla. — Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers today proposed an exchange of visits between American and Russian lawyers.

In a speech prepared for the American Bar association, he said that such exchanges would dramatize the contrast between a free system of government and a regimented communist system.

"It is my opinion," Rogers said, "that the legal profession should give its support to a carefully planned exchange program of lawyers and judges in order that the Soviets may study our constitutional system and the operation of our courts, and that we be given an opportunity to study the system in effect in the Soviet union."

One of 10 Most Wanted Criminals Captured

Lubbock, Texas — A former convict who two weeks ago was added to the FBI's 10 most wanted list of criminals was arrested at a trailer court here Tuesday.

Harry Raymond Pope, 39, was unarmed and surrendered meekly to FBI agents.

Red China Cuts Output Target

Communists Admit '59 Production Goals Too High

Tokyo — China's communist rulers admitted today that their production targets for 1959 are too high and must be reduced.

The Chinese communist party's central committee said the targets for grain and cotton were based on 1958 production figures which were hugely in error. Western economists had suspected that all along.

The Revisions
Peiping also announced abandonment of its much trumpeted program of steel production in backyard home furnaces. The reds claim the do-it-yourselfers produced three million tons, but the output is generally understood to have been of very poor quality.

These revisions in production goals were announced: Grain, about 275 million tons instead of 525 million tons; cotton, about 2½ million tons instead of 4½ million tons.

Church Scholars Working for Unity

Members of Protestant, Orthodox, Roman Catholic Churches Hold Informal Meetings for One Goal

BY EUGENE LEVIN
Rhodes, — Quietly obscured by the bustle of everyday church activity, scholars of the Roman Catholic, Protestant and orthodox churches are meeting informally in search of a common path to Christian unity.
They have met in many places and for many years. Their meetings are not secret. Today — with all churches re-emphasizing a desire for Christian unity — these unofficial contacts are taking on a new significance.

None of the theologians who have made a life work of the search for unity pretend that they are anywhere near to a way out of the labyrinth of conflicting dogma and tradition dividing their churches. But they do feel that, in their small way, they are contributing something toward the goal of unity.

Current Meetings
This work is brought into prominence by the current meetings on this Greek island of the central committee of the World Council of Churches, an organization representing Protestant and orthodox faiths with about 180 million followers, and by Pope John's frequent pleas for Christian unity since becoming head of the Roman Catholic church 10 months ago.

Much of the Roman Catholic work toward Christian unity is carried on by the Roman Catholic conference on ecumenical (worldwide) questions. This group is not an official Vatican agency, but its members are priests who have made a lifelong study of Christian unity.

One of the more prominent is Father Christophe Jean Dumont, a French Dominican, who publishes a magazine called "Toward Christian Unity."

Both Father Dumont and the secretary of the conference of ecumenical questions, Father J. G. M. Willebrands of Utrecht, Holland, are covering the Rhodes meeting for church publications. They have been taking every opportunity to meet informally with Protestant and orthodox delegates.

Father Dumont has proposed to orthodox clerics here, particularly the Greeks, that they meet with his Roman Catholic group next year. The orthodox scholars are considering the proposal.

Contact between the Roman Catholics and western Protestant delegates is part of a continuing process. The executive committee of the World Council of Churches in its latest report says its contacts with the Roman Catholic conference on ecumenical questions "have provided an opportunity during recent months for us to gain a clearer understanding" of Pope John's call for a Roman Catholic ecumenical council.

Vatican officials have made clear that the ecumenical council Pope John has called will deal only with internal Catholic unity, but the pope's announcement is considered by most churchmen at the Rhodes conference to be part of his campaign for Christian unity.

Segregationist Ross Barnett Made Governor

61-Year-Old Lawyer Rolled to Solid Win in Mississippi

Jackson, Miss. — Ross Barnett, 61-year-old lawyer and militant segregationist, will become Mississippi's next governor.

Barnett, who publicly approved the tactics of Arkansas Gov. Orval Faubus in fighting school integration, rolled to a solid victory over Lt. Gov. Carroll Gartin in the Democratic runoff.

Unofficial returns from 1,777 of the state's 1,828 precincts today gave Barnett 217,842 votes to 184,170 for Gartin.

Barnett, making segregation a major point, gained voter support which exceeded even his own prediction he would carry 60 of the 82 counties. With only a handful of precincts out, he led in 63. He has advocated a solid southern front on segregation and bitterly opposed all moderates on racial matters.

Barnett declined to discuss plans for specific pro-segregation legislative action because they are not complete.

Blue Star Head Named

Gov. Gaylord Nelson, Right, shakes hands with Wisconsin state fair manager W. M. Masterson, but gubernatorial attention seems to be directed chiefly at the 1959 Alice in Dairyland, Merrie Barney, the state's new official hostess who welcomed him to the West Allis fairgrounds.

Still Not Settled

Fist Fight First Cause of Outbreak of Violence Between Teenage Gangs

New York — John Cruz, Cruz with homicide, saying he admitted the shooting but claimed he didn't know he was shooting a girl.

Rosario was stabbed in the back and died last night. Police say Castro, who stabbed him with a hunting knife, will be charged with homicide today.

Why didn't the fist fight settle things? Because both Cruz and Rosario belonged to street gangs, the tough, fighting cliques that form in slum neighborhoods. It's a quick way for a poor boy to become a "big shot," to join a gang, and then he doesn't have to be "pushed around." The gang will back him up.

Youth Didn't Like People

Set Million Dollar Fire to Teach Firm A Lesson, He Says
Oklahoma City — "I didn't like the people," said John Wayne Woods. "I didn't like their attitude."

Detective G. L. Emmett said yesterday that was the 13-year-old Negro's explanation for setting fire to the Cato Oil and Grease company plant here Monday night.

Seven firemen were injured fighting the blaze, which caused more than a million dollars damage to crude oil storage tanks, warehouses and tank cars.

Emmett said John was picked up after a relative reported him missing. He said the boy freely admitted starting the fire. Asked why he didn't like the people at the plant, John told Emmett:

"They threw things around. I'll kill anybody for throwing things around. I decided they should be taught a lesson."

Detective Emmett said John, who is held without charge, probably will receive a psychiatric examination. He said the boy has a record of mental illness.

Senate to Begin Consideration of Water Diversion

Washington — The Senate expected to begin consideration today or Thursday of a bill which permits Chicago to divert more water from Lake Michigan.

Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas predicted the House-passed, controversial proposal will be brought up soon, probably tomorrow.

Sen. Philip A. Hart (D-Mich.) said the measure will be referred to the foreign relations committee since Canada has objected to the bill's provisions.

Hart, one of many opponents of the proposal, said it would be wrong to view referring the measure as an effort to kill it. Six Great Lakes states also have objected to the bill.

The measure would permit Chicago to divert another 1,000 cubic feet of water per second into the Illinois waterway on a 1-year trial basis for sewage disposal purposes.

Laos Government Asks No Help in Combating Threat From Red Rebels

UN, SEATO Possible Agencies To Aid When Peace Endangered

New York — The government of Laos says the threat from communist rebels is growing steadily more serious, but it has made no move to ask the aid of either the United Nations or the Southeast Asia Treaty organization (SEATO).

The SEATO pact was signed in 1954 just six weeks after the Geneva armistice ending the Indochina war, and the eight SEATO signers included Laos, Cambodia and South Viet Nam under the wing of the anti-communist alliance.

In the event of any armed attack or threat which might endanger peace, the eight SEATO members are obligated to consult immediately on measures to be taken. But they also are bound not to intervene on the territory of the attacked country without an invitation of the government concerned.

So far there has been no such invitation from the government of Laos. Nor has there been any suggestion from any of the SEATO countries that such an invitation might be in order. Members of the alliance are France, the former ruler of Indochina; the United States, Britain, Australia, New Zealand, Pakistan, Thailand and the Philippines.

The SEATO pact calls only for consultations on any use of force or threat of force. This, however, would not prevent the alliance from acting if its members agree that intervention is necessary.

Two other agencies might be invoked. One is the United Nations, which has been mentioned frequently since fighting in Laos resumed. A representative of the Laotian government has consulted with Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld and with some U.S. delegations on the possibility of having observers sent to Laos, but no request has been made for action by the security council or the general assembly.

A less likely possibility is the reconvening of the 3-nation armistice commission set up by the 1954 Geneva armistice. This commission consisted of India, Poland, and Canada. It adjourned in July, 1958.

The Laotian government contends that the commission completed its functions and its re-establishment would be an interference in the internal affairs of Laos.

Man AWOL From Army 40 Years
Knob Noster, Mo. — Homer M. O'Dell, 66, of Brookfield, Mo., says he has been AWOL from the army nearly 40 years.

He told his story at White-man Air Force base Tuesday. Base officers sent him home and told him to come back later for a report on his status.

O'Dell said he hopes to get his record straightened out so he can qualify for a World War I pension.

Here is his story: He received an honorable discharge after serving from May, 1914, to April, 1918, then enlisted in the army air corps.

Stationed at El Paso, Texas, he was denied a 10-day pass for a trip home to Red Oak, Iowa, where a younger brother, Roy, was dying.

O'Dell went home anyway and never returned to service. He said the army refused to grant him a pension until his AWOL case is cleared up with the air force.

Air Force Sergeant Heir to Mine Claim

Alaskan Mercury Vein Close To $40 Million, Geologists Say

Merced, Calif. — An air force sergeant who befriended a crippled widow is heir to an Alaskan mining claim he says may be worth $40 million.

Sgt. Thomas L. Howlett returned to nearby Castle Air

Force base after restaking the Cinnabar claim and reported Tuesday geologists estimate its worth that high. He did not identify the geologists.

Two years ago the tail gunner from Norfolk, Va., joined the Pentecost church where he met Oona Mayberry whom he married in Carson City, Nev. in June, 1957.

Knew Couple
The bride's parents, who are turkey raisers near Merced, had known Jim and Cora Dinsmore for many years.

Dinsmore, a prospector in Asia, South America, Mexico and Alaska, died in 1955 and the newly-married couple did favors for Mrs. Dinsmore, who lived in a house trailer at nearby Livingston.

Howlett, now 28, said Mrs. Dinsmore told them in April 1958 about the claim to the Cinnabar vein near Cold Bay in southwestern Alaska. A month later Howlett was transferred to Ellsworth Air Force base in South Dakota and five weeks later Mrs. Dinsmore died, willing them the claim.

Attended Mine School
While stationed at Ellsworth, Howlett and his wife, who is 20, attended the University of South Dakota's School of Mines, and last May he went to Alaska and checked the claim.

He said he was amazed at the extent of the Cinnabar veins. "I was scared to death," he said. "We had understood there was about a mile of mineable deposits. But we found from 12 to 18 miles of solid, thick veins."

Jury Says Slaying Was Justifiable Homicide

St. Louis — A coroner's jury Tuesday said the pocket-knife slaying of two young men during a brawl which grew out of two drinking parties Saturday was justifiable homicide.

The findings will have no effect on the circuit attorney's office, which plans to bring the case before a grand jury Tuesday.

Ronald Neil Morrison, 21, is charged with manslaughter in the slayings of Larry Ray Waller and Kenneth Benson, both 19. He is free on $10,000 bond.

The brawl was over a bottle of vodka which Morrison had bought. He did not know either of the two dead youths, who intervened in a fight between Morrison and some other men.

Excitement Is Intense on Eve of Make-Believe Battle on Desert

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Mojave Desert — I am writing this at midnight in the mid. of vast confusion, for we are entering into battle array on the uncompromising sands of this desolate land.

Peace, like home, is far away, and we are at war. It is a make-believe war, to be sure, destined to give realistic training to the marine corps reserves, but feelings are intense and excitement is high. Like me, 100 men who are members of the 7th engineer company of Wisconsin seem to feel that "this is it."

Somewhere perhaps two miles away a bugler is sounding the awesome demanding "call to arms" and it is incessant and stirring. The initial assault will begin at an hour from now.

Outside I can hear the crisp command tones of Maj. Robert J. Mallon, commanding officer of the 7th engineer company, but his words are mutilated and reverberating echo-like in my steel helmet which is ill-adapted to isolate sounds when there are so many.

Along the lines are tanks bristling with guns, command cars, jeeps, trucks and weapons carriers, each of them roaring their throaty mechanical tones which seem to thunder out the words so often said preparatory to battle, "This is it."

Intense Impact

This is it indeed. The psychological impact is intense and irrefutable. The enemy has planned well and has already exposed our troops to

"news it and understands it, the whence the many tortois- which our troops have not yet encountered?"

Swampland Troops

The enemy are crack troops from the swampland country of Louisiana and elsewhere. They dress differently and are perhaps the best trained troops in the area. Their language is Cajun, polyglot tongue mixed with Spanish Indian and the deep south.

Their morale is high and fearsome, for we the Americans outnumber them and they are intensely desirous of showing their tactical superiority and the fierce skills of guerilla warfare as well as their superior knowledge of living and fighting in the dreadful Mojave desert.

One field grade officer here expressed worry over the aggressive spirit of the aggressors. "They're wild men, they want to win so badly I fear that somebody will be hurt in the skirmishes."

Outside now the troops are moving in order and the attack is soon to begin.

No Sleep to Come

For the next three days and nights we will move to our objectives, or try to, and we will be virtually sleepless.

Kurt R. Petermann, left, new principal of St. Paul Evangelical Lutheran school, was welcomed Monday at a reception. Petermann, formerly of Arizona, is talking with, from left, Miss Bernice Leinwander, new first grade teacher, from West Allis; Mrs. Andrew Madson, new kindergarten teacher, from St. Louis Park, Minn.; the Rev. F. M. Brandt, pastor; George Kiecker, seventh grade teacher, and A. H. Blankenburg, host for the party and congregation president. The school will open Sept. 1.

The Wisconsin troops will do many things in the days to come. They will plant land mines, they will split into smaller units, serve other elements of the attacking forces. They will readily demolish roads and clear trails for other units and they will do the thousand things which only the engineer companies can do.

It is my intention to move tonight with Capt. Raymond R. Bareis of Wausau and his platoon which will serve the infantry "queen of battles."

And now the command has been given — the troops are moving out. You who are at home and at peace must know that for all intents and interests we here are at war against Kajun, a country which has invaded our land and unless halted on the desert will march on Los Angeles 138 miles to the west.

9 Bay Counties Join in Planning

cent of the time. But an example can be taken from it, for it has served to develop an orderly civic, industrial, economic and social area growth.

The various aspects of the council, how it functions, what it does and the benefits it brings to the area will be covered in this series of articles. This story will deal with its program and objectives.

Founded in 1944

When the Bay Area council was formed in 1944, the founders — many of them industrialists — were aware that the economic opportunities of all counties and localities in the area not only were interrelated but were very much interdependent. The basic purpose of the council, therefore, was to further this economic and social unity.

It was emphasized that the council, a voluntary and non-profit organization, was not designed to take the place of any of the groups represented: county governments, city governments, labor organizations, chambers of commerce or businesses. Rather, the council serves as a means for coordinating the activities of these groups so the bay area is able to present a united front in bringing about what its members feel is the proper solution to problems affecting the entire area.

In such a manner, the council serves the area without emphasis on any particular locale, since the development of any specific community lies solely within the jurisdiction of the chamber of commerce, governmental agency or other interested bodies there.

Aims Declared

This is made clear in the council's statement of aims: "The council is not a new chamber of commerce but a group of citizens anxious to help all the chambers of commerce in the Bay region and to help them face their common problems as a team."

"The council is not an agency of government but a group of citizens anxious to enlist the united forces of the region in support of the progressive program of all the county and city governing bodies."

"The council is not a new planning commission but a group of citizens ready to unite on development plans which deal with the region as a whole."

"The council will not and cannot take the place of any other organization. It will and can assist all other organizations in the nine counties to unite their forces in planning for general development, in solving postwar problems and in advancing the interests of the people of the Bay region as a whole."

Idea Clearinghouse

The council's primary and most important function is to act as a clearinghouse of ideas from any of the participating organizations. It analyzes all legitimate suggestions as to things which should and could be done for the area, coordinates efforts of various public and private agencies on common problems and helps to unite public opinion behind Bay area projects which individuals or smaller groups would not be able to do alone.

Diverse Membership

Because of the council's scope, membership in it must be broad and diversified. And it is, for the membership consists of the chairmen of county boards of supervisors, representatives of municipalities, representative business leaders, representatives of labor organizations, presidents of local chambers of commerce and representatives of other interested groups such as educational and agricultural bodies.

The Council as a whole meets quarterly to consider broad policy topics while the board of governors, meeting when occasion demands, is the policymaking body and discusses other matters of general Bay Area interest.

The executive committee meets more frequently to analyze problems for assignment to the proper committee, to coordinate activities of working committees, to review working committee progress and similar activities while the working committees meet on the call of their chairmen and direct their attention to the Bay area problem with which it was created to deal. Thus, as a handbook, published by the Bay Area council states, it is a cooperative organization by its very nature and the success or failure of its efforts rests directly on the ability and farsightedness of its members and officers.

Its success also rests, to a large degree, on many citizens of the area who have come to realize that the success or failure of a community 5 or 15 or 50 miles away can have a direct bearing upon their own livelihoods.

orate this first visit of an American president to Bonn. Crowds gathered to buy them.

Hans Phalsgraf, a cop at the railroad station, said "Eisenhower is liked very much in this country. What ever happened in the war, the present situation has superseded it."

"I am a war veteran," said taxi driver Willy Schmitz. "I fought the Russians for three years and I welcome Eisenhower's visit."

"If anything at all is to be agreed on, it is the big fellows who must do it."

Reunification Theme

The reunification theme was being stressed everywhere.

"Seventy million Germans welcome Ike," read a placard.

This was reference to Germans on both sides of the Iron Curtain, the 53 million on the western side, and the 17 million under communist control in East Germany.

Adenauer was reported ready to caution Eisenhower not to be taken in by Russian blandishments in his talks with Soviet Premier Khrushchev. Eisenhower was said to be equally prepared to assure Adenauer he was well aware that one must deal cautiously with the Russians.

Young Climbers May Have Gotten Idea From Book

Franconia, N. H. — (AP) — Two young Connecticut collegians who died climbing the precipice from which the old man of the mountain stares over a dizzying panorama may have got the idea from a book.

William Putnam, of Springfield, Mass., who led a 6-man crew that brought down the bodies, said Alfred Whipple, Jr., 20, of Gales Ferry, and Sidney Crouch, 21, of Ledyard, were on an old trail — the Whitney-Gilman route.

He said he wondered whether they learned of it in their reading in preparation for the climb.

"I'm sure they must have had some idea, because they were right on it," he said.

Putnam's mention of the old trail gave a new view of the collegians' climb. Previously mountaineers had suggested they tackled a particularly tough piece of climbing through inexperience.

Whipple and Crouch died of exposure Monday, minutes after rescuers reached them. They had become stranded on a ledge halfway up the 1,000-foot cliff, a ledge little wider than their bodies.

2 Brothers Die Buried in Silo

Cedar Grove, Wis. — (AP) — Two young brothers died Tuesday when they were overcome by fumes and buried by tons of silage.

Daniel Kempink, 14, and Garrett, 10, were trapped at the bottom of the 30-foot high concrete structure. They had been sprinkling the bottom of the silo.

Their father, Harold, called Sheboygan county authorities about 3 p.m. when he noticed his sons' bicycles were near the silo and the boys couldn't be found.

The silo was about a third full when the brothers were reported missing. Sheriff's deputies donned gas masks and a portable blower was used to clear the silo of fumes to enable them to recover the bodies.

2 More Polio Cases Reported

Madison — (AP) — The state Board of Health said today two cases of polio were reported to it in the week ending Aug. 15. They were in Lincoln and Oconto counties and identified as paralytic.

These brought the state's total of reported cases for 1959 to 17, compared with 22 in the same period last year.

representatives where each state has one vote.

Southern opposition to Butler's plan developed quickly.

Sens. Strom Thurmond (D-SC) and Herman E. Talmadge (D-Ga.) called for Butler's resignation or dismissal, and Sen. John Sparkman (D-Ala.) said some of Butler's recent statements have sounded like talk "calculated at pushing the south out of the party."

Sen. Paul Douglas (D-Ill.) spoke out in favor of the proposal.

There was no comment from senatorial front runners for the 1960 Democratic presidential nomination.

Mother Drowns In Mill Pond

Stevens Point — (AP) — Mrs. Stanley Karpinski, 28, Milwaukee, drowned in a mill pond near Rosholt in Portage county Tuesday apparently after suffering an epileptic seizure.

Mrs. Karpinski, mother of two children, was vacationing with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Czervinski, near whose home the drowning occurred. Her body was recovered.

"has gotten too big for his breeches. This is just another of his tricks to deprive the people of the south of our right to a voice in the affairs of our party."

Patterson said Butler does not represent a majority of the party and accused him of seriously hurting Democratic chances in 1960. "It is imperative that the party get rid of Butler immediately," he said.

Gen. Lauris Norstad, NATO commander, told delegates Tuesday night that he looked for the coming meeting of President Eisenhower with Premier Charles DeGaulle as a means of enriching "the ancient associations of France and America."

Combat Planes

Norstad said recent withdrawal of several combat plane squadrons from France into West Germany, and England came because "we could not accept a situation that left a considerable part of our defense forces indefinitely separated from its weapons."

He referred to French objections to storing of nuclear devices there when the United States, under present laws, cannot share its atomic secrets with and give technical assistance in that field to other nations.

"It well may be that our policies will have to be adapted to new facts and circumstances," Norstad concluded, "and that the nuclear responsibilities of NATO will have to be broadened."

Man Will Count Governor Says

Sacramento, Calif. — (AP) — California's Gov. Edmund G. Brown says it will be the man — and not his religious beliefs — that will have his support at the national Democratic convention next year.

He said he is not opposing Kennedy "in any shape, form

Poland Says It Will Campaign For UN Seat

United Nations — (AP) — Communist Poland has opened a campaign for the seat on the 11-nation U. N. security council which Japan gives up Dec. 31.

Polish Representative Jacek Machowski told a reporter the seat belonged once to eastern Europe and "we would like to have it back."

There are six non-permanent members of the council elected for two years. From 1946 to 1955 there was an unwritten agreement that one of the seats would go to an east European country. But in 1955 the United States came out in favor of giving the seat alternately to an Asian nation.

Yugoslav and the Philippines tied in the voting that year and split the 1958-59 term between them. Japan took the seat for 1959.

Poland has sat before on the council. Other East European countries which have held the seat are the Ukraine, Yugoslavia, Greece and Turkey.

Machowski says he has formally notified Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld and the other delegations that Poland is in the running again.

The five permanent members of the council are the United States, Britain, France, the Soviet Union and Nationalist China. Three of the non-permanent members will be replaced at the end of the year.

Some Real Guidance for Our Young People

Thursday all parents of junior high school students in Appleton will receive in the mail copies of a very unusual and, we think, very excellent publication. It is, in fact, one of the best of its kind we have ever seen. It is called We Believe, and is a guide-post for behavior of junior high age young people. It is sensible, neither too restrictive nor too liberal, and covers all areas of behavior — in school, at social events, in the home and in public places. This fine booklet is the result of a year's work by a special committee, originally created by the Roosevelt Parent-Teacher association but which eventually became city-wide. Last year the Roosevelt PTA became disturbed over evidences of poor behavior on the part of some junior high students in Appleton. The problem was perhaps more difficult to grapple with because it was not severe — it was not a problem of teen-age gangs and outright criminal activities such as some larger cities have experienced, but rather a general disrespect for authority and a tendency to get into mischief on the part of a minority of the students. The committee, to its credit, faced up to the fact that the most important source of this kind of trouble is the students' own homes. And it also did not avoid, or gloss over, the most delicate and difficult aspect of this problem — the fact that some parents are more lenient than others, with the common result, "The other kids can do it; why can't I?" The booklet suggests certain standard rules for various activities, such as how late students of various ages should be permitted to stay out on week nights and weekends; but it also makes it clear that when some parents' rules are more strict there is a good reason for it, and they should be respected. Fine as this booklet is, it does not represent the total accomplishment of the committee. It led the successful agitation for the establishment of a juvenile bureau in the police department, headed by a specially trained juvenile officer. It consulted with many other groups in the city to develop a program of alerting the public to the problem. It received help from the staff of the State Department of Public Welfare. It is promoting a city-wide program to create understanding among the various groups involved. This is one of the finest pieces of work we have seen done in this field. The Roosevelt PTA and all others who worked with it deserve the thanks of the entire community.

The Chicago Water Steal

The city of Chicago is fighting hard to get authority to divert more water from Lake Michigan to wash its filthy sewage through the drainage canal to the Des Plaines river and on through the Illinois river into the Mississippi. Chicago of course has a wonderful sewage distribution system but to operate this system it must take water from the lake which belongs to all of the people in the lake states on the American side and to the Canadians on the north side. It is quite obvious that if the Chicago sewage is washed out into the Des Plaines river and enough water can be taken from the lake to dilute it and keep it rolling that Lake Michigan in front of Chicago will be clean and unpolluted. Chicago points to the clean water in Lake Michigan along its beaches with an air of great civic pride. It contrasts the clean waters along the shores of Chicago with those in front of some cities in Wisconsin in the hope of justifying its position. Recently the Chicago Daily News carried an article on its front page under this headline: "Green Bay gags on its stinking industrial waste." Under that heading it makes the statement that "virtually every city on the Great Lakes except Chicago dumps its sewage into the lake whether treated or plain raw muck." Now everybody knows, including the author of this article, that it is practically impossible to treat sewage so that it is 100 per cent pure when emptied into any body of water. Chicago does no better than many Wisconsin cities in its treatment of sewage. It claims to have removed 90 per cent of the B. O. D. (biochemical demand) but the statement is not exact. Sen. Wiley in recent testimony before a congressional committee was able to show that the Chicago Sanitary District chief engineer reported that sewage treatment in the sanitary district plants, has declined from a general average of 93 per cent in 1951-52 to 87 per cent or less in 1955-56. In fact, the author of the Daily News article admits that Milwaukee is doing a better job in sewage treatment than Chicago and reports that Green Bay has attained a 70 per cent efficiency which is very good. However, all this is no argument for the flushing of sewage from one watershed into another by the use of water which belongs to all the people. All of the water taken from Lake Michigan by Wisconsin cities is returned to the lake so that the level remains undisturbed and where there is efficient treatment water is purified by the action of the waves and the sun in a comparatively short time. The trouble of course is that very few cities have attained anything like the efficiency required for clean water. A booklet published by the Metropolitan Sanitary District of Chicago for the purpose of stating the case for the diversion of more water offers some very interesting facts. In 1954 Congress passed a bill permitting the district to increase diversion by 1,000 cubic feet per second. The measure was vetoed by the President. In 1955 a similar bill was introduced and passed by Congress but this measure provided that 1,000 cubic feet per second increase was to be for a period of three years under the supervision of the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers. The intention was that the corps would study the effect of the increased diversion on lake levels, navigation and the condition of the waterway and make a report to Congress. Once again the President vetoed the diversion bill. A bill now pending in Congress which has been passed by the House carries the same provision for experimental use of the water to determine its effect. However, the opponents of the Chicago diversion plan are quite sure that Chicago is not interested in a study but in getting diversion increased temporarily and for any reason in the strong hope that it will be continued forever. This strategy was used by the trustees of the Sanitary Canal back in 1900 when it was under construction. At that time St. Louis was fearful that Chicago sewage would imperil the health of people using water from the Mississippi river, and it proposed to get an injunction to stop the opening of the canal. However, the Chicago canal board, "reasoning that once started the flow would be hard to stop quietly ordered a needle dam knocked out on Jan. 2, 1900, which turned the waters of the Chicago river into the channel." That quote is from the Sanitary District's own publication and it goes on, "On the night of Jan. 16, 1900, the board went to Lockport and early in the morning — minutes before the suit for injunction was filed in the United States Supreme Court — the controlling gates were lowered and the water from Lake Michigan flowed toward the Mississippi." But the people of Wisconsin are not fighting Chicago merely to make trouble for that great city. There is a real danger that if Chicago continues to increase the diversion of water from the lakes its example will be followed by other cities, by people who need water for irrigation, by large areas in Canada that might make other use of water from the Great Lakes and that eventually serious damage will be done to shore property along the lakes. This is not fanciful thinking. There is a real danger and the people of Wisconsin must insist that Chicago find ways of treating its sewage without taking water which does not belong to it.

Even Bull Fighters Have Problems

The traditional sport of bull fighting has been having heavy going in Spain. Crowds have been thinning out in favor of soccer matches and nobody has been able to claim the title of El Numero Uno since World War II. The government, worried about the decreasing interest and also well aware of the drawing power of bull fighting for the tourists who are flocking to Spain, clamped down some new rules. The picadors, the men on horseback, had to restrict their activities in the ring considerably. And the bulls had to be qualified as sound, ill tempered and rugged. No scrawny Ferdinand types were to be permitted. Some of the matadors have complained that these tough bulls prevent them from putting on a good show for the spectators, particularly those who never saw a bull fight before. There is something of showmanship or hamming it up in every sport, after all. The old-timers grumble that the matadors don't train the way they used to, that they are used to dealing with sissy bulls and anyway nothing is like the good old days. Those who go for blood have conceded that the bulls have come out the winners this season in the rings. All six of the major contenders for top man landed in the hospital recently with severe gores in the stomach, groins and thighs.

Safety Belts on Cars Should Be Appreciated

While the use of safety belts in automobiles has not caught on with the general public as yet, the device seems to be slowly gaining ground, as witness the recent decision by Gov. Rockefeller of New York to have them installed in all state automobiles with the requirement of employees to use them. The belts have already been endorsed by auto manufacturers and scores of safety organizations. The value of the belts in preventing loss of life and injuries in automobile collisions has been established in exhaustive tests at Cornell university. The American Medical association has endorsed the device and congress is currently considering it in legislation connected with highway safety. The weight of evidence gathered thus far is all in favor of the auto safety belt, which seems destined to grow more popular when the average motorist begins to fully appreciate its life-saving potentialities.

Questions Logic in Explanation Of Crash Involving Police Car

Editor, Post-Crescent: A story appearing in the Appleton Post-Crescent, Thursday of last week, has raised two questions in my mind. The story concerns a traffic accident between an Appleton police officer driving a squad car and another motorist. The accident occurred, according to the article, when the officer became distracted by a person who shouted words at him. The car the officer was driving crashed into the rear of the other vehicle which was in the process of making a turn. The police chief blamed the accident on the "lack of men" saying that two officers should be in a patrolling squad car. Although the officer was "legally at fault" the chief added that the officer would not be charged with an offense since he was doing his duty. The questions raised are: 1. Can the statement "lack of men" be correctly labeled as the cause of an accident? and, 2. How can one be excused who is "legally at fault." It is a matter of logic that a traffic accident and "lack of men" have no relationship to each other. An accident can happen just as well to a motorist who is travelling alone as it can to a motorist who has several passengers. As far as actual driving is concerned, the driver has the responsibility, not the passenger. The police chief may be right in saying the department lacks manpower. However, I do not believe that he can say in the same breath that the lack of manpower caused the accident when he has said the officer is legally at fault. This is contradictory. Now the second question. The article quotes the chief as saying that the officer was "legally at fault" but that he would not press charges since the officer was doing his duty. This is also contradictory. I may add that I sympathize with the officer but in using an analogy, another motorist in a similar situation would be brought to court and fined for inattentive driving. The third question I put to the readers: How can we expect the best from our driving citizens when the police department is allowed these excuses? A Motorist Appleton

Says Humphrey No Backer Of Catlin Act Principle

Editor, Post-Crescent: Some of our readers may get the notion that Sen. Hubert Humphrey supports the Catlin act by the way your account of his visit to Madison was written up earlier this month. Sen. Humphrey made it very plain in his press conference that he felt both political parties should have sufficient funds to get their message to the voters. This is the question which is at the heart of the Catlin controversy. It was fear that Democrats would have an equal amount of money at their command which first frightened Republicans into supporting the Catlin act. The moment when it can be demonstrated that Democrats have more funds and more mass media at their command I will — and I think Sen. Humphrey will, too — gladly support a way to pass the hat for the Republican party. The real tragedy in modern politics is that candidates running for public office do not have an equal opportunity to reach the electorate. A candidate with large personal funds can often buy out all available television time, blanket his district with billboards, and black out everybody else on television. This is not healthy. The Catlin act proposal and cons have never come to grips with the real problem.

Looking Backward

Gen. Grant to Visit State Fair

79 YEARS AGO Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for the week of Aug. 28, 1880. Col. G. E. Bryant of Madison, Secretary of the Wisconsin State Agricultural Society, sends us information that the State Fair will be held in Madison on the 7th, 8th and 9th of September. He also gives some interesting facts pertaining to the fair, viz.: "As it now becomes certain that Gen. Grant will be at the State Fair Sept. 7th, the citizens of Madison have resolved to give a special premium of $400 for a stallion race. Thus $200 to the first place winner, $150 to the second and $50 to the third best. All heats to be made in less than 2:35." Another inducement held out is that Hancock and Keenan of Chicago will give $25 for the best display of Berkshire swine; Beedle and Kelley of Troy, Ohio, will give a corn planter valued at $75 for the best bushel of ear corn. It is gratifying to know that new interest has been infused into the annual Fair of the State Agricultural Society. 23 YEARS AGO Wednesday, Aug. 22, 1934 F. R. Appleton, Outagamie county highway commissioner, was to leave Wednesday afternoon for LaCrosse to attend the midsummer meeting of the Wisconsin County Highway commissioners' association. Two members of the state stabilization committee met with local oil distributors at the Conway hotel. Causes of depressed prices were discussed. The two state committee men were M. J. Peters of Milwaukee and Lynn Mattison of Appleton. Other members of the county committee were George Buth, H. A. DeBauer, E. J. Treiber, Carl Foss, E. W. Miller, Charles Smith, Appleton, Fred Frank, Seymour, and George Schaefer, Greenville. Roland Beyer, Kaukauna, graduate of Lawrence college at Appleton with honors, went to Medford, Mass., to attend the Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy. 16 YEARS AGO Wednesday, Aug. 24, 1943 R. W. Radsch, sales manager of the Appleton Machine company was to speak Thursday to the Appleton Optimists club at the Conway hotel. He was to discuss "The Romance of the Pulp and Paper Industry." Miss Violet Thebo, Appleton, was elected as representative of the Lawrence college Neuman club to the 35th annual Neuman club Federation National convention in Chicago. Mrs. E. A. Werner, Mrs. Eli Jandrin, Mrs. Elmer Krantzsch and Mrs. Theresa Ashauer were to be in charge of the last card party in August of the St. Joseph Ladies Aid society. Dick Garvey and John Hayes reached the semi-finals of the Butte des Morts Golf club's annual club championship tournament.

Under the Capital Dome 2-Year Budget Shows True State Tax Outlook

BY JOHN WYNGAARD Madison — When the Republicans in the legislature insisted upon denying Gov. Nelson's plan for a "1-year budget," they had the advantage of standing by the rules and by tradition but their purpose was strategic. The purpose was to minimize the new Democratic governor's "bare bones" publicity strategy and to show that a 2-year projection of his 1-year fiscal proposals actually would produce a budget far higher than ever before and far higher than prospective revenues could maintain. The Republicans won. They forced the Democratic administration to accept the 2-year budget figures that are required by law and custom. The results also showed that their purpose was well-conceived. The total budget figure for the biennium — which will almost surely be boosted again in the fall — is so great that it is attracting considerable attention and comment. Thus far the state has authorized the expenditure of $418 million for the current biennium, which is about $80 million above the figures in the preceding budget. mate increase of $100 million, may well wonder what the administration would call a "normal or generous" budget. The import of the prospective gap between spending and revenues under present tax laws also is starting to sink in. The gap would be the equivalent of an individual income surtax of 40 to 45 per cent, at the least, and most likely a little more. SLIM FOND HOPE The politicians and especially those of the Democratic contemporary majority have fondly hoped that the celebrated tax impact study committee can come up with some face-saving alternatives or solutions of some sort. But the committee's delays are such that it now seems highly improbable that conclusions can be presented to the legislature during its fall session. If a special session of the legislature is called, it might be after the turn of the year, and thus risk missing the 1959 tax returns. It would be difficult to add tax liability after January of 1960 on 1959 tax income. That would make the tax hazard — in surtax equivalent — even more severe for 1960 incomes and probably force politicians, of whatever belief, to consider sources other than the income tax. The outlook is thus extremely cloudy. About all that is certain is that the taxpayer is going to pay considerably more, somehow. CREDIT DUE Some credit in this exploit is due the public expenditures survey of Wisconsin. It is not at all certain that many persons were listening, but the record will show that a spokesman of the survey turned up before the legislative joint finance committee to point out that the governor's 1-year budget figures were not really representative, that if continued on a 2-year budget basis they would be considerably higher than a doubling of the 1-year totals. That is because some of the budget cost increase factors are continuing — including provisions for higher pay to public service workers. It was the survey, very likely, that provided the inspiration for the legislators of Republican persuasion to challenge the extraordinary 1-year budget concept, to insist upon a normal 2-year appropriations system, and thus to achieve a full public acknowledgment of the true tendency for higher costs and higher spending in state affairs. WHAT'S NORMAL? Today, accordingly, the taxpayer who hears a Democratic talk about Nelson's "bare bones" budget policy, and reflects that it involves a minimum increase of $80 million and a probable ultimate increase of $100 million, may well wonder what the administration would call a "normal or generous" budget. The import of the prospective gap between spending and revenues under present tax laws also is starting to sink in. The gap would be the equivalent of an individual income surtax of 40 to 45 per cent, at the least, and most likely a little more.

Business Is In Need of More Speed

From the Atlanta (Ga.) Journal Many Americans who travel by air are asking questions about the necessity for more and more speed. They have heard that airliners soon will be moving at twice the speed of sound — or faster still. Isn't it enough, they inquire, to cross the ocean in four or five hours? Why is it imperative to fly across the Atlantic in two hours? The airlines have a single word of explanation, Competition. In this modern world speed is a commercial asset. Development of supersonic airliners is founded on hard-headed commercial sense. Experience has proved that the airliners with the greatest speed get a lion's share of the business. There is another little understood factor. The jump from subsonic to supersonic flight is a big one, but crossing the sound barrier must be a big leap that carries well over to the other side. There can be no half measures. The people who make the planes and the airlines that fly them are aware that some are wondering if the limit hasn't been reached in speed of commercial planes. But they are convinced the traveling public wants to move from one place to another in the least possible time. Speed brings business these days, for this is a fast-moving age. Kicked-Off Shoes Make Male Envious From the Balloch (Ga.) Herald It fascinates us to observe the shoes which little girls and ladies kick off at church. We fix our gaze upon them, envious of the comfort their owners derive from this homely and perfectly natural habit. Would that we could do the same!

Opportunity Knocks For Andy Williams, Summer TV Standout

BY HAL BOYLE New York — (U) — Andy Williams has been a standout in the desert of summer television that some people are convinced he must be a mirage.

Moguls from the networks, Broadway and Hollywood have been knocking on his door and crying, "Open in the name of opportunity." But the pleasant voiced, finger-snapping young baritone isn't a man to be rushed off his feet by love or money. "You can't afford to make too many mistakes," he said. "Everything happens in due time. There's no hurry, and there's plenty of time for everything—if you don't get panicky." "I don't believe in doing something for the money—if you feel you can't give it your best."

Smash Hits Andy at 28 already has had a long ride on the roller coaster of show business. He started singing at 8. In 1952, he was making only $175 a week at the Blue Angel Night club here. Now his income is in the six-figure a year bracket. Eight of his 10 records—including "Canadian Sunset" and "Hawaiian Wedding Song"—have been smash hits. What to do next? He is considering two bids for an hour-long TV show, two solid movie offers, and a bid from Broadway.

Miss Hepburn Enacts Role of Nun in Movie

Acress Audrey Hepburn stars in "The Nun's Story," a film adapted from Kathryn Hulme's best-selling book, which opened today at the Viking. The picture, a year in the making, has been heralded as a memorable experience behind convent doors. Miss Hepburn plays the title role of Sister Luke, the Belgian girl who became a nursing nun in the Congo, facing physical adventure and a tortured conscience. Miss Hepburn spent almost a year in training for her role of Sister Luke, learning how to conduct herself as a nun and a nurse. She visited churches and convents, hospitals and operating rooms and received technical tutelage from church officials and surgical authorities. Appearing with Miss Hepburn is an international cast headed by Peter Finch, an Australian, and Dame Edith Evans and Dame Peggy Ashcroft, two distinguished members of the British theater. The troupe traveled 28,000 miles to such locations as Rome, the heart of the Belgian Congo, and various cities in Belgium to complete the movie. "The Nun's Story" was directed by Fred Zinnemann, an 8-time Academy Award winner, whose "High Noon," "From Here to Eternity" and "The Search" have won him international recognition.

Acting's Not Hobby, Says Miss Valentine

Actress Works Hard
To Match Career
With Publicity

BY BOB THOMAS.
Hollywood —(U)— "The biggest problem I have is convincing producers I want to act. They wonder where they have heard the name Nancy Valentine. Then they say, 'Oh, yes, she was the girl who was married to the Maharajah of Cooch Behar. She must be so rich that acting is just a hobby.'"

Not so, says the beautiful blonde. She's acting because she needs to support herself and her small daughter. And she's making headway: She is now doing her first feature movie.

Her Name Elusive
Nancy is admittedly a publicity-created personality. To the general public—and film producers, too—she is one of those elusive names that pop up in the news and gossip columns.

But can she act?
"I've appeared on hundreds of TV shows," she says, "but producers always ask me, 'What have you done?' It's disheartening."

At least one producer is in her corner. That's Jack Webb, for whom she has acted on his various TV series. Now she has a good role in his newspaper movie "30-30", a title which is bound to cause no end of confusion.

Hughes Discovery

Between scenes, Nancy recounted some of her amazing history. She first came to Hollywood from New York as one of the long parade of Howard Hughes discoveries. She said that she grew restless with inactivity, but he told her: "Nobody ever quits me." She broke the precedent, then became an acting hopeful for David Selznick and Mervyn Leroy.

Enter the Maharajah.
Their alliance is clouded in legend, but it appears that they met in a Hollywood night club, he fell head over turban for her and took her to India as his wife.

"But India was undergoing an economic shakeup," she said. "If the country recognized our marriage, it would have meant the loss of investments that the royalty had in banks overseas. About this time, my relations with the Maharajah were getting a little shaky anyway, so I decided to call it off."

Turns to Religion
She returned to Hollywood—and religion. She became a convert of the Self-Realization Fellowship and renounced her worldly goods—including a big settlement from the Maharajah—to enter its hermitage on nearby Mt. Washington. After three years, she left.

A marriage followed to wealthy Frederick Tillinghast III ("The 'III' is very important to him"). This broke up after two years and one daughter. Now at 31, Nancy Valentine is working hard to make her career catch up with her publicity.

Actress Anna Roman Makes Stage Comeback

New York —(U)— Anna Roman, actress-wife of actor Menasha Skulnik, is back on stage after an absence of some years.

She is appearing with her husband in "The Law and Mr. Simon," which is getting a pre-Broadway test on summer tour.

University Regents Review, Reaffirm Budget for 1960-61

University of Wisconsin regents have reviewed their original operating budget request for 1960-61 and reaffirmed it with a recommendation for substantially the same amount.

The regents had been asked by Gov. Gaylord Nelson to submit a proposed budget for the second year of the 1959-61 biennium.

Regents requested a 1960-61 operating budget from state tax funds of $28,764,371. Their original request was $28,751,717.

Faculty Raises
This is an increase of $4,448,340 over the 1959-60 budget approved for the university by the legislature, and about $11 million above the legislature's compromise budget for 1960-61.

The major increase over 1959-60 is a request for $2,853,000 to raise faculty salaries to the level originally recommended for 1960-61.

The recommendation is in stances and counseling, and administrative costs.

With the recommended budget, the university is proposing a change in the definition of maintenance expenditures to include minor remodeling projects.

Regents requested a $200,000 increase in maintenance funds for this purpose, approximately what the university has been spending per year from building funds on minor remodeling.

UWM Improvements
Regents requested about $150,000 for improving the UW-Milwaukee, including items for strengthening the staff in the upper divisions, changing the summer session from a 6 to 8 week session for 1960 and increasing the library book budget.

Other university improvements requested include $165,700 for research; $150,000 for agricultural extension and public service activities, including $80,000 for agricultural activities in the state and $55,000 for the cancer detection program of the state laboratory of hygiene; $80,000 including $30,000 for the Memorial library; $35,000 for student service and improved

Franklin St.
Extension Requested

Would Utilize
Packard Street
Ravine Property

W. Franklin street should be extended through the Packard street ravine, the board of public works recommended Tuesday.

It will wait for a study of lot ownership before deciding the fate of the remainder of the ravine. Action is expected next Tuesday.

Four plans were considered. Two would have joined W. Washington avenue and W. Franklin street, going both under and over the North Western railroad tracks. The underpass method would cost an estimated $400,000; the overpass, $200,000.

$220,000 Plan
The other two extended Franklin street. The adopted plan will cost an estimated $220,000. The alternate plan would have put a jog in Franklin street, costing about $160,000.

It is expected the remainder of the ravine area will be converted into parking lot.

School Board Meeting
A meeting with the school board to study the Lillge property proposal will be set. The board will ask school officials when another junior high school will be needed on the north side and why additions cannot be made to present junior high schools.

Installation costs for the manhole serving the end of Lee court should be assessed to the property owner, the board decided. Ald. Thomas K. Schneider again opposed installing the manhole, saying one 80 feet beyond could serve the area. Director of Public Works Edwin J. Duszynski said the manhole is necessary for cleaning the sewer.

Strawberry Claim
Irene Parsons' claim that her strawberry patch was damaged by crews installing a new street will be investigated by the engineering department. Duszynski said the city might be responsible rather than the street contractor, because the city pulled some stumps in the area.

Non-Intervention Policy Must Be Offset by Conciliation

BY WALTER LIPPMANN

At the Conference of American States in Santiago, Chile, the central problem has been how to make an old principle fit a new situation. How can we apply the doctrine of non-intervention, to which we are deeply committed, to the conflict between Castro and Trujillo, between the Cuban revolution and the Dominican dictatorship?

The doctrine of non-intervention was adopted by the American States in 1936. It is sweeping and absolute. It forbids "intervention, directly or indirectly, and for whatever reasons, in the internal or external affairs of the parties."

Taken literally, this would forbid intervention even to check an intervention — for example, to check an intervention by Castro's forces against the Dominican Republic or by Trujillo forces against Cuba.

Absolute Doctrine
The sweeping and absolute nature of the doctrine is explained by its history. Until the adoption in the 1930s by the Roosevelt administration of the good neighbor policy, this country had been in the habit of intervening freely in Central America. We had intervened in Cuba, in Haiti, in what is now the Dominican Republic, in Nicaragua, Panama, and Mexico.

The Latin American states demanded that these interventions must stop, and the language of the doctrine is designed to remove all doubt and to close every possibility of evasion.

As the doctrine was addressed to this country, it was easily enforceable when in 1936 non-intervention had become our own national policy. But the conflict between Castro and Trujillo presents a quite different problem of enforcement. For Castro and Trujillo are mortal enemies, each convinced that he must destroy the other or be destroyed himself.

Hard To Enforce
It would be hard to suppress these forces. We ourselves could hardly say that we are able to police and prevent revolutionary and counter-revolutionary activities based on United States soil.

If the American republics wanted to suppress the mutual interventions in the Caribbean, they would have to ask the United States to institute a sea-and-air patrol of Cuba and the Dominican Republic. This would violate in principle and in spirit the 1936 doctrine of non-intervention in the "external affairs" of Cuba and the Dominican Republic. In practice it would mean the intervention of U. S. forces in an area where their intervention has been outlawed for nearly a quarter of a century.

It is, then, not easy to apply and enforce the established principal of non-intervention. The best, it would appear, that can be done with it is to dampen down by diplomatic conciliation the more overt and embarrassing hostile acts of Castro's and Trujillo's partisans, hangers-on, clients, and mercenaries.

Only in respect to the capacity to annihilate with nuclear weapons is this a 2-power world. If, as the result of the conversations which are to be held, the illusion could be dispelled that whatever happens in the world derives from Moscow or from Washington, a new sanity would have begun to dawn in world affairs.

Board Studies Street Project

Widening Division Discussed at Site With Land Owners

Kaukauna — Members of the board of public works met with property owners at Desnoyer and Division streets to ascertain the feeling toward street widening and tree removal.

Some agitation has started to have Division street from Lawe to Lincoln avenue widened but this would necessitate the removal of many large trees and some small trees on terraces along the way.

Rather than bring the matter before the board for discussion before ascertaining the feeling of property owners, the meeting was held at the site and the limited number of property owners reporting expressed little objection to the tree removal program.

The board will resume discussions at a regular meeting to determine whether a public hearing should be called preparatory to undertaking the project. If objections are forthcoming, they usually come out at a public hearing.

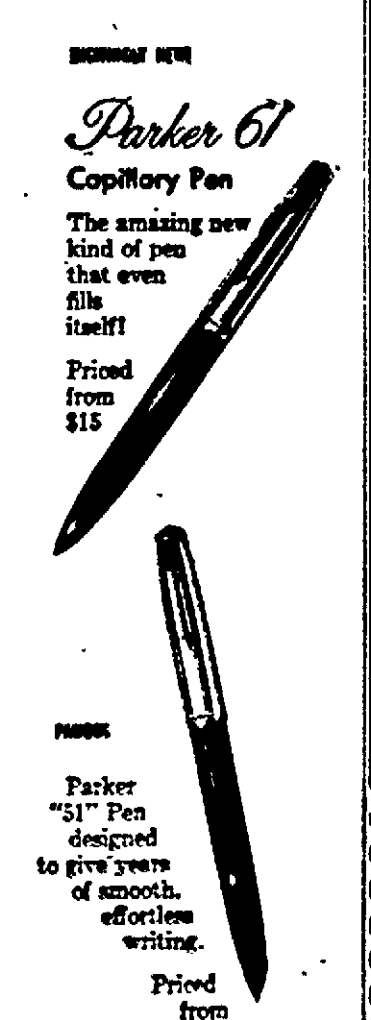

A general discussion on the merits of a street widening program was held on the site along with property owners questions being answered. No official action was taken.

KRA Picnic Set, Ticket Sales Close Thursday

Kimberly — The annual picnic for Kimberly Recreation association members will be held at 3 p.m. Sunday at the Combined Locks park and pavilion with a dinner and dancing to highlight the day's activities.

Tickets are being sold by KRA members and business places throughout the village. Persons planning to attend are requested to purchase tickets prior to Thursday afternoon as all surplus will be collected at that time to permit the committee to make plans for food preparation. The affair is open to KRA members and guests. The $1 ticket includes the cost of the dinner and dance. Refreshments will be available.

Crews Preparing Crosswalks for School Opening

Kaukauna — Preparations for the opening of all city schools are being carried out by city crews and a crew from the Kaukauna Electric and Water utility.

City crews are painting school caution signs on all roads in the vicinity of schools together with repainting and marking crosswalks and other areas in the vicinity of schools to help motorists drive with caution.

The utility crew has installed "walk" lights at Wisconsin avenue and Lawe street, one of the busiest intersections in the city and one used by hundreds of school children.

The "walk" signs will give students the opportunity to cross without having difficulty with traffic turning into the path they are using. The intersection is involved with school.

Memories of Her June 13 wedding day at Peace Lutheran church, Shawano, are brought to mind when Mrs. Robert Olen, Jr., 7 Whiting court, looks at her bridal ensemble, hanging on the closet door of the couple's apartment. She is the former Miss Marilyn Lenning of Shawano.

Mrs. Richard A. Geurts, Right, adjusts the gown and veil she wore for her June 30 wedding as her sister, Miss Christie Goss, route 3, Appleton, models the bridal dress. Christie, 18, hopes to wear her sister's wedding ensemble when it is time for her to be a bride. Mrs. Geurts is the former Marcia Goss, daughter of Mrs. Juliana Goss, route 3, Appleton, and Raymond Goss, West Bend.

Girls Store Dresses In Closets, Boxes As Remembrances

BY CAROL RICHARDSON
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Every girl dreams of some day donning a frothy white creation of lace, silk or chiffon and floating down the aisle to say "I Do" with the man who will be her husband. But after months of careful shopping, fittings and plans, these expensive dresses are worn once and left to hang hidden in a closet, or go forever unnoticed in a large box.

Many spring and summer brides in the Fox Cities feel that one appearance in the bridal gown is worth the $75 to $200 which the creations cost. Other brides, more practical-minded, are interested in selling, renting or loaning their dresses, or in re-styling them as cocktail ensembles.

Mrs. Kenneth Kostitzke, 4131 N. Division street, had her gown cleaned and packed for storage after her June 20 marriage at St. Mary Catholic church. "I want to save the dress for my daughter," she added with an eye to the future. "If styles change, we can always remodel it." She is the former Carole Jean Hendricks.

Mrs. Richard Geurts, the former Marcia Goss, was married June 30 at St. Therese Catholic church in a billowy, tiered gown with a portrait neckline and short sleeves. Mrs. Geurts, now of 501 1/2 W. Atlantic street, had the gown cleaned and is saving it for her sister, Christie, who is 18, "just in case."

A practical bride is Mrs. William L. Meisle, the former Nanci Miller, who was married July 25 at St. Mary Catholic church. "I'm having my dress cleaned and rejuvenated and hope to sell it," she explained. "We don't have room to store it and I'd even give it away, just so it's worn again. I think a wedding dress loses its beauty unless it's worn," added the young wife.

Admires Dress
Still hanging on the closet door of her new apartment is the dress worn by Mrs. Robert Olen, Jr., 7 Whiting court, for her wedding June 13 at Peace Lutheran church, Shawano. The former Miss Marilyn

Keep Child's Parties Small, Easy

BY VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

A mother is very likely to give a birthday party for her first 2-year-old child. Few people could restrain her from this idea though her child may not even be aware of what it's all about. Mother is determined to start her child out with all the good things. So — there is going to be a party. The best bet is to

Couple Repeats Vows At Clintonville Church

Clintonville—The St. Martin Lutheran church was the scene of the wedding of Miss Elaine Schmidt, 502 1/2 W. College avenue, Appleton, and Lloyd Miller, Appleton, at 3 p. m. Saturday. The Rev. Luther Strasen officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Schmidt, Clintonville, was given in marriage by her father. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Miller, route 1, Marion.

Miss Doris Schmidt, Appleton, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Sandra Schmidt, Clintonville, another sister of the bride, and Miss Margie Mueller, Appleton.

Brenda Wilke, Neenah, niece of the bride, was the flower girl. The ring bearer was David Miller, Clintonville, nephew of the bridegroom.

Robert Miller, Marion, was best man for his brother. Groomsmen were Jim Ebel and Jim Knitt, both of Marion. The ushers were Russell Wilke, Neenah, a brother-in-law of the bride, and Roger Miller, route 3, New London, brother of the bridegroom.

lakes, the couple left on a trip to northern Wisconsin.

The bride is a graduate of the Clintonville Senior High school and is employed at the Aid Association for Lutherans, Appleton. The bridegroom is a graduate of the Marion High school and is employed at Wichmann's furniture store, Appleton.

The couple will live at 1209 W. Fourth street, Kimberly.

limit it to four children, and to make it simple. Invite the mothers to stay. You'll need them to keep things in line.

A gay color scheme of red, yellow, orange and pink was used by one mother to impress the children with the festive occasion. She used yellow and white bowls and plates of child-proof melmac for ice cream, cake and milk. She made orange felt coasters which were used under each bowl of ice cream and this made a gay contrast with a yellow formica table top. Oriental porcelain spoons instead of spoons helped prevent spilling of ice cream.

Love Party

Mother may be appalled at the idea, but the most practical birthday cake at this age is the individual one. An iced cup cake with two small candles on top. Colorful bibs were made of two squares of brightly flowered sailcloth tied together at the shoulder, and these not only protected the little party dresses but were gay and decorative as well. They need not be hemmed for party use.

It's a good idea to have a party for small fry in an open part of the house such as a screened-in porch or patio. It could be on the lawn. Children at this age need freedom, and will want to stretch their legs during the entire party, so you don't want to be put in the position of saying "don't touch that," "don't do that," at every turn. It will dampen the spirits of the small fry who are there to have fun.

Remarks on 'Swedish System' Inspire Wrath Among Readers

BY ANN LANDERS

Dear Readers: Recently I was reminded of that childhood song — "Ten thousand Swedes came out of the woods. . . ."

I feel as if I've been clobbered by at least that many, as a result of my remarks on the "Swedish system."

Landers

When a reader criticized my "antiquated sense of morals" and suggested we pattern our attitudes toward sex after Sweden's, I pointed out that the divorce rate in Sweden may be lower than ours, but the percentage of out-ofwedlock babies and suicides there is still in existence such a garden. Every year a surprising number of people are lured to this ancient place. The hollow below is very deep so that a jump is truly effective. — A LARSON

DEAR ANN: Please don't lecture me; just tell me what to do. For two years I went with what I thought was the most wonderful man in the world. We were planning to marry when his divorce came through.

We were very much in love when I became pregnant. Then his love turned to hate. It was a disgrace to go to Valhalla from a sickbed. The Vikings built Temple Gardens into which they jumped when they had no chance to die on the battlefield.

In Gaskrikland, Sweden, can stand it much longer.

DEAR ANN: Move out of that snake pit and go to work. Not only will it give you a fresh outlook but it will be better for the baby. It's no good for a child to be penned up night and day with a miserable, unhappy mother who hates the man she's living with.

In some states the father has financial responsibilities, whether he's married to the mother or not. Check with a lawyer, and get packing.

DEAR ANN: Should a 12-year-old boy be forced to eat when he has a headache or has just been scolded by his father? Please answer in the paper. This is important. — BUZZIE

Dear Buzzie: No person (regardless of age) should be forced to eat at any time, for whatever reason. When a person is emotionally upset the stomach is in no condition to receive food. Children who are forced to eat sometimes develop stomach trouble as well as a life-long loathing for certain food.

To learn the difference between a marriage that "settles down" and one that "gets dull," send for ANN LANDERS' booklets, "What to Expect From Marriage," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Time to Start Beauty Routine to Return Hair, Hands, Face to Normal

September — and suddenly the casual days of summer are replaced by the brisk pace of the autumn campus. The calendar says it's time to go back to school; the weather is right; but how about you? Summer has a way of changing the way you look, for better and for worse.

On the credit side, you probably have a greatly improved figure. A season of sports has toned your body, neatly trimmed away the excess weight. Sunshine, lighter foods, and fresh air have undoubtedly improved your general health picture.

But as marvelous as these blessings of summer are, there is also a negative side. Hair suffers unmercifully, becoming dried in texture. It's more difficult to keep nails even, and cuticles often split. As skin tans, it coarsens in texture.

Begin Now

Start now to follow a beauty routine to return hair, hands and face to normal.

1. Resolve right now to give your hair a beauty treatment once a week. Brush! Brush! Brush! Then massage a bit of hair cream into the scalp, leave on as long as you can, overnight if possible. Finish the job with a thorough shampoo, super rinsing. An egg shampoo is especially adept at restoring polish to dull dried out locks.

2. We're assuming you give yourself a regular manicure or have one at your favorite salon, but this alone won't restore brittle splitting nails and rough cuticle. The cure—a two minute massage with cuticle cream every single night. The results are astonishing—nails

Use Proper Salt Solution for Frozen Vegetables

The proper strength salt solution for processing vegetables for freezer storage needn't be a matter of guesswork.

A 2 per cent salt solution is approximately one heaping tablespoon of salt to one quart of water. A 3 per cent solution is approximately 1½ tablespoons of salt per quart of water.

grow supple, cuticle becomes healthy. You can wear your nails as long as good taste permits!

3. How's your complexion? Dry, parched, leathery from too much sun? The answer's easy—try a little tenderness. Cleanse with cleansing cream, using a cotton pad first dipped in skin lotion. Tissue off and freshen with more lotion. Smooth on a bit of gentle hand cream to soak up dryness, to put the bloom back on the rose!

Too Oily Skin

If you have the opposite problem, a too oily complexion that's the result of late hours, too many pool-side snacks, hasty cleansing, you've got to catch up on your beauty sleep, start ordering salads and fruits and really really clean your skin. Every morning and every night massage skin cleanser into your skin until it's lather-thick; tissue off. Repeat until the tissues come away spotless. Leave off the night cream; instead a film of medicated cream heals, and dries up those ugly spots.

In Good Taste Parents Feel Gift's Dangerous

BY EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: Our son celebrated his 7th birthday a couple of days ago. His Godmother presented him with a bicycle on this occasion. It was very generous of her and of course our son was thrilled with it. However, my husband and I are very much opposed to his having a bicycle as it is very congested here where we live and we feel it would be extremely dangerous. My husband thinks I should call and explain this to her and ask her if she would please exchange it for something else. I think this would be most improper and that it would offend her deeply. Will you please give me your opinion about this?

Answer: Your son's safety comes first, and even at the risk of offending his Godmother you should explain to her the danger of a child's riding a bicycle in your neighborhood, and ask her if she would please exchange it for something else.

Clergyman's Expenses
Dear Mrs. Post: My daughter will be married in a month at an afternoon wedding. She would very much like to have our former rector, who has known her since birth, perform the ceremony. The clergyman in question has just recently left this community for a new parish in another city. I would like to know if I am responsible for his expenses in connection with the wedding. This will include traveling expenses and hotel.

Answer: You certainly should offer to pay his expenses because, otherwise, much as he would like to, he may not be able to afford to come for the wedding.

CHILDREN'S games in the form of small-sized packs of cards are fine time-passers on a train or plane trip. Do snap a couple of rubber bands around each box before you leave, though, to hold them closed. Then, should a box break or get lost, the bands will keep the cards together, in your purse, too.

Personal Calorie Counter

Do you know exactly what your daily calorie intake should be? For a good figure and good health, too, you can't guess.

The following tables remove guesswork:

To lose two pounds weekly, your daily calorie count must be limited to 1200 or 1500.

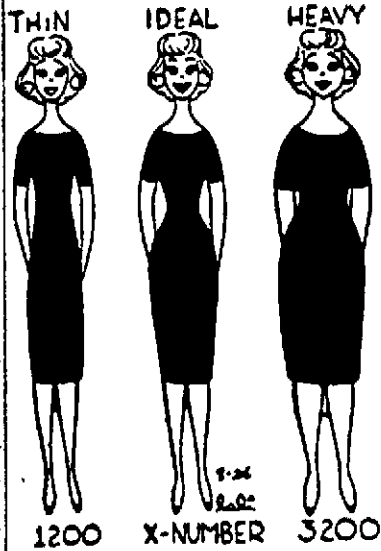

To gain one pound each week, your daily count must average out to 3200 calories. In round numbers, 2400 calories is a safe, daily count for women of normal weight. Physical activity, however, has a bearing on that sum. To ascertain an individually correct count, you must do this bit of figuring:

Multiply your weight by 20, if you are as active as an athlete; multiply your weight by 15, if you are normally active; the multiplier for a sedentary person is 13. The result of your multiplication is your daily calorie allotment. Stick with it and normal weight will stick with you!

Painless Reducing

To lose up to 10 pounds without a struggle, send for my leaflet, "Painless Reducing."

No rigid dieting, no heavy exercising, no discomfort! All advice is sane, safe, easy-to-take and effective. Address your request to me in care of this newspaper, enclosing a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope and five cents in coin.

7 English Seamen Miss Ship, Take Train to Milwaukee

Green Bay — Seven English merchant seamen were sent to Milwaukee from Green Bay Tuesday to rejoin their ship. They were held in custody overnight after failing to leave with the vessel Monday afternoon.

The seamen were picked up in groups of four and three by city police at the request of federal immigration authorities after their ship, the motor vessel Riverdore, left without them around 4 p.m.

The seven were held at the county jail until they were placed aboard a 10:25 a.m. train for Milwaukee. They should arrive before their ship at its Jones Island dock in Milwaukee.

Routine Matter
John Marsh, federal immigration and naturalization officer in Green Bay, said this morning the case is being treated as if the men missed their boat. He explained the procedure is routine except there was a larger number than usual off ship in this instance.

Marsh and local law authorities said the seven were not under arrest for any crime. Marsh said also that, in cases like this, the steamship line pays the cost of lodging, and food for tardy employees.

Excess CD Booklets Bound For City's School System

Mayor Mitchell has discovered a method of ridding the city hall basement of the 20,000 booklets explaining the national civil defense plan.

He requested, and the school board concurred Monday, to have the booklets distributed to each public school student this fall. In the next few days, he will be contacting all private and parochial schools.

Former City CD Director Robert C. Beltrone obtained 50,000 of the booklets from the national CD office, Battle Creek, Mich., at no charge to the city sometime early this year. The booklets were still in the city hall basement corridor as late as May. At that time, Beltrone, since resigned, said the Appleton chapter of Business and Professional Women's club was going to help distribute the booklets to every Appleton family.

Through the club's efforts some 30,000 booklets were distributed, leaving the problem of the 20,000 remainder to confront the mayor, who is acting CD chief.

Red Star Again Asks for Building

154 Petitioners Seek Attachment To Appleton; Proclamation Issued

Red Star school district residents voted for the third—and apparently last—time Tuesday night to build a new school.

But another block may have been placed in the way of building by a petition to attach to Appleton for school purposes only, filed Tuesday afternoon with secretary of the Calumet county school committee, R. J. Flanagan.

Flanagan said 154 petitioners asked to abolish Red Star and attach to Appleton. The Calumet and Outagamie county school committees have a month to set a hearing for the petition, at which both sides will be heard and a decision made on the proposal. The committees cannot recommend another action.

Proclamation Issued
The situation is further confused by a "proclamation of schoolhouse about a mile south of Appleton in Calumet county."

Proclamation Ordered
Moments after the reconsideration motion failed, Marilyn Nelson submitted a proclamation, typed on duplicator paper, outlining the district's action. Voters ordered the board to sign the proclamation.

When Orville Johann and Reuben Stadler, school board members and avowed opponents of building, hesitated to sign the document, another man moved that the district begin recall proceedings against Johann and Stadler. He withdrew the motion after the two signed the proclamation.

The proclamation informs Calumet and Outagamie counties and Appleton school officials that the district instructed the school board to borrow funds for the school and hire an architect and contractor so the school will be ready by September, 1960.

Heated Arguments
Arguments for and against building were repeated as heatedly as at the previous four meetings.

Opponents based their arguments on a recommendation from George E. Watson, state superintendent of schools, that the district attach to Appleton.

When Johann insisted on re-reading Watson's advice, Chairman Robert Wright said he had to read two more letters received from the state department.

Told to Build
Watson had written Wright, telling him the state never gives orders to school districts—merely advises them. He said the district should do what the voters wanted.

But Ralph E. Jolliffe, supervisor of school district reorganization, told the district, "It would be better in the long run to have the new school constructed somewhat in line with city school construction."

Wright then said, "If any of you can hear these contradictory statements from the state, without being confused, then you're better than I am."

(Previously Watson overruled actions by the town of Grand Chute, ordering Appleton to attach two districts for school purposes.)

Designer Wins Fashion Trip To Europe
Mrs. Joan Daniels Pedro, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray L. Daniels, route 1, Black Creek, left New York City Sunday for a 2-week fashion trip on the continent. She was a winner of a contest sponsored by a home economics magazine.

While abroad she will stop at Paris, where she will be shown the fashion collections of the House of Dior and Nina Ricci and the millinery work of Paulette. In Rome, she will view costumes by Fontana and Simonetta.

Mrs. Pedro, who has been teaching in Milwaukee, received her master's degree this summer and will teach design in fall at St. Olaf college, Northfield, Minn. Her husband took graduate work toward his doctor's degree this summer at the University of Colorado, Boulder.

Window Smashed After Meeting
The rear window of a car owned by Robert Marsh, treasurer of the Red Star district and advocate of building a new school, was smashed by unknown persons Tuesday night after the school meeting.

Calumet county police are investigating. Marsh's baby-sitter said she heard some noise outside the house, just after the school meeting adjourned, but that she was afraid to check it.

After the school meeting Aug. 4, three building advocates, including Marsh, found eggs smashed over their cars' windshields. No report of the egg-smashing incidents were filed with police.

intent to build" signed by the school board Tuesday on the order of the district.

Flanagan said he would have to study the problem to determine what should be done.

At the district's second adjourned annual meeting Tuesday, voters turned down a motion to reconsider discussing building an addition to the present school by 61 to 55. The district twice before authorized an addition to the 40-year-old, red brick, 1-room

Miss Rusch Wed to K.R. Maertz
Honeymooning in northern Wisconsin are Karl Robert Maertz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Maertz, 2118 W. Spencer street, and his bride, the former Judith Ann Rusch, Appleton.

The pair was wed in a double ring ceremony preceding a 10 a.m. nuptial high mass Saturday at St. Joseph Catholic church, the Rev. George Henseler officiating.

The bride, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Rusch, 2540 Theresa avenue, was escorted to the altar by her father, Mrs. Ignatius Mollen, Brillion, was honor aide and Miss Sandra Gatz, Menasha, was bridesmaid.

James Voigt, Appleton, was best man and Donald Rusch, Appleton, brother of the bride, was groomsmen. Edward Schedgick, Appleton, uncle of the bride, and Gerald Maertz, route 2, Appleton, brother of the bridegroom, were ushers.

The newlyweds were honored at a noon dinner at the Pastime Supper club and a reception was held at the Veterans of Foreign Wars hall.

The couple will be at home after one week at 654 Bel-laire court.

The bride is a graduate of Menasha High school. Her bridegroom graduated from St. Mary Catholic High school, Menasha, and is employed by Marathon division of American Can company, Menasha.

New Board Members Mrs. Chandler W. Rowe, standing, begins the job of learning what the Visiting Nurse Association of Appleton is all about at the VNA house, 310 N. Durkee street, Monday morning. In charge of orienting new members to the organization and its varied activities is Mrs. Ralph Taylor Alton, also a director.

Seven Fined For Roles in Car Accidents

Seven motorists drew fines Tuesday in municipal court on charges stemming from accidents.

LeRoy B. Siegel, 21, of 221 Williams street, Kimberly, was fined $75 and his driver's license was revoked for 60 days for failure to have his car under control early Tuesday morning. It crashed into a telephone pole on E. Wisconsin avenue. He was unable to pay the fine and will serve 30 days in jail.

James J. Sullivan, 43, Worth, Ill., was fined $75 for passing in a no passing zone Friday on Highway 45. His action forced another car into the ditch where it hit a utility pole.

Arnold L. Peterson, 18, of 510 Walnut street, Neenah, and Steve R. Schreier, 18, of 1224 S. Kernan avenue, drivers of cars which played cutoff with each other Sunday night on Rankin street, were each fined $50 and their driver's licenses were revoked for four months for reckless driving.

Minor Injury
Dolores Korth, 1194 E. Harrison street, was fined $15 for driving without a license. Her car was involved in an accident at Linwood avenue

James Durfee Nominated to Court of Claims

Washington — James Durfee, former chairman of the Wisconsin Public Service commission, was nominated Tuesday by President Eisenhower to be a judge of the U. S. court of claims.

Durfee is chairman of the civil aeronautics board and will leave that post if his nomination is confirmed by the senate. He is a Republican.

Durfee practiced law in Antigo, Wis., from 1927 to 1951 and served on the Wisconsin Public Service commission from 1951 to 1956 when he was named to the CAB.

Durfee was an unsuccessful candidate for circuit judge in the Outagamie, Shawano and Langlade district in April, 1947.

Sent to Reformatory
Ronald C. Smith, 19, route 1, Appleton, was sentenced Tuesday in municipal court to one to two years in the state reformatory for violating probation on a stolen car conviction.

Migrant Worker Gets 10 Days Jail, $50 Fine in Knifings
Warren Pierce, 55, Dead City, Fla., Tuesday in municipal court was fined $50 and sentenced to 10 days in county jail for battery.

Sheriff's Lt. Jack Zuelzke told the court Pierce cut two fellow migrant field workers with a knife during a party near Black Creek Sunday.

Harry Pass, 45, Chattanooga, Tenn., and Alonzo Maxwell, 31, Gladson, Ala., both required three stitches to close wounds in their neck and arm pit, respectively, Zuelzke said.

If Pierce cannot pay the $50 fine, he will serve an additional 25 days in jail, Judge Oscar J. Schmiede ruled.

Use Goodland Field More, Mueller Asks

Alderman Claims City Not Getting Money's Worth

Appleton should use Goodland field more for the money it spends in maintenance, Ald. Donald W. Mueller told the board of public works Tuesday.

The board reported that field maintenance cost Appleton $22,661.90 from Jan. 1, 1958, to Aug. 1, 1959. Mueller had asked for the cost report "because the people should know how much they pay for that field."

"I'm not against baseball or the Fox Cities Foxes," he maintained. "I think they're fine institutions, but a lot of people are curious about how much the field costs to keep up. I think we should utilize it more than we do."

Used Menasha Field
"Last year Appleton was embarrassed by having to play one of its games on Menasha's field. With the amount of money we spend on Goodland, we should get a lot more out of it."

Mueller recommended year-around utilization, with a schedule drawn up well in advance, getting more for the city's investment.

The cost breakdown was figured from reports by the electrical, recreation, park and street departments.

Costs Described
The electrical department spent $1,408 in 1958 and $1,812.80 so far in 1959.

The recreation department spent $7,309.07 in 1958 and $5,066.58 in 1959.

The park department spent $2,817.10 in 1958 and $1,474.76 in 1959.

The street department spent $1,781.98 in 1958 and $891.61 in 1959.

Breakdowns included salaries, materials and improvements made at the field.

$2.60 Stolen
About $2.60 was stolen from the coin box of its pop machine sometime Sunday, Monday.

It will be warmer tonight in northern New England and in the northern plains, while it will continue warm from the Atlantic westward through the western Lakes region. It will be slightly cooler in the upper and middle Mississippi valley. Showers are expected along the western Gulf coast, in a narrow band from Ohio west to South Dakota and Nebraska and in another band from Montana south to Arizona.

tralla, New Zealand, India, Pakistan, Ceylon, Malaysia and Ghana pursue their own foreign and defense policies. Undoubtedly whatever influence Great Britain exercises will be moral, not an expression of power.

The advantages of belonging to the commonwealth, however, are not small. "Imperial preference," which gives nations in the commonwealth an economic priority, is not slight. There are other financial benefits, particularly for countries in the sterling area and those whose banking systems are linked to London. How long "imperial preference" will continue no one can prophesy.

Such countries as Canada and Australia are becoming competitors of Great Britain and don't find "imperial preference" a benefit.

If Canada had to choose between "imperial preference," and a mutuality of projects with the U. S. it would be difficult to make the choice. Ultimately, Canada's economy must be tied into that of the U. S. even if some Canadians now resent the suggestion.

Policy Fixed — The policy of the U. S. is now fixed beyond change that Great Britain, which would not have been able to defend herself alone in either World war I or World war II, must be defended by the U. S.

The American foreign aid policy has been geared to benefit Great Britain most. While no law has been passed to that effect and while many Americans object to such an assumption and whereas it is correct to say that large sections of the British Labour party do not relish Great Britain's dependence upon the U. S. it is also true that Great Britain is dependent upon the U. S. and that this country accepts that responsibility.

Great Britain did not join the European common market because of its ties to the commonwealth and to the U. S. It cannot be established that it would have been to Great Britain's advantage to join this group of European nations, but it can be established that it would have been advantageous to the European common market to have British participation and it must be assumed that ultimately a way will have to be found to include Great Britain or an economic race between Great Britain and West Germany will disturb the west.

Low-Wage Goods — It definitely would be harmful to the U. S. to become a member of this body and to be tied into its tariff reductions to a point that low-wage goods could come into this country more freely than such goods enter today.

As a matter of fact, some American labor unions which have hitherto pursued a policy of free trade are now reconsidering that policy in view of the fierce competition their goods encounter in American markets from goods of low-wage countries. They must now recognize that low wages do not represent inefficient or non-competitive production; they could destroy markets for American labor even in the United States.

The textile and garment workers are the principal sufferers, but the automobile workers will sooner or later realize what happens to labor when imports of automobiles exceed exports. Capital does not suffer because it can be exported to foreign countries and is actually being exported. The returns on such exports do nothing for the American worker.

Speel School Opens Aug. 31 — Enrollment Increase Requires Addition Of New Instructor

Kimberly — Speel school in the town of Buchanan will begin classes Aug. 31 with two instructors hired this year rather than one as last term, according to Richard DeBruin, school board secretary.

The added teacher was necessary due to an increase in enrollment of 15 students. DeBruin anticipates an enrollment of 50 for the coming year. The school has had two teachers at other times when enrollment warranted.

Instructors will be Mrs. Edna Knaack for the upper grades and Mrs. Cora Ann Bantleon for the lower grades. Transportation will again be provided by the Kaukauna Bus service.

Bids were asked for the school milk program and for transporting mentally retarded children to the county school. Lamer's dairy and Boogaard's dairy will divide milk service for the year while Ed Vanden Boogaard was given the contract to transport retarded youngsters.

Frozen Rates on U. S. Bonds are Causing Worry

Fear of Inflation
Results in Rise in Price of Money

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Washington — Smoldering fires often do not attract attention whether in government or anything else.
When a conflagration comes, those responsible for neglect run to cover.

The Democratic party
today controls both houses of congress. It is responsible for the smoldering fire on the subject of interest rates.
Despite urgent appeals nothing has been done by the lawmakers to remove the ceiling that keeps the interest rates on government bonds frozen.

This means that nobody really knows what the real rate for government borrowing is and the consequence is a world-wide apprehension that the dollar is deteriorating.

'Too Much Talk'

The answer that some Democrats make is that there has been "too much talk" about inflation and that the less said about it the better. Actually the lenders of money in the markets don't do much talking—they simply refuse to lend their money to the government at existing rates.

Politically it is supposed to be bad to allow interest rates to rise. But the fact is the politicians are driving the interest rates up artificially by refusing to let the market for government securities find its natural level.

Sec. of the Treasury Robert
B. Anderson, has said flatly that fear of inflation has made the price of money go up. He declared:

"If people who have money to lend begin to worry that the dollars they are loaning out now won't be worth as much when they get them back, then they are going to ask for a higher price. They'd like a little insurance against the likelihood of an inflationary price rise, and the only way they can get it is to charge more interest. Part of the additional interest is really an insurance premium."

When asked if the removal of the ceiling as now fixed by law would cause interest rates to rise, Anderson replied:

Change Not Influential

"I do not believe that they would rise because of this recommended change in law. In the first place, while interest rates are influenced by government borrowing, interest rates in free credit markets are by no means determined by the rates we put on our new issues of securities. It's the other way around: the rates we select are determined, after considerable study and consultation, on the basis of what's been going on in the market, the rates on existing government securities, on corporate bonds, and the like. Removing the ceiling would simply permit us to meet the market."

"Secondly, since ability to do some long-term borrowing would help hold back inflation, removal of the 41 per cent ceiling would tend to promote lower — not higher — rates of interest. Nothing shoots up interest rates as fast as fear of inflation."

Failure to Act

The problem has been before congress for many months without any action.
The results of the tragic failure to act are already emerging. Personal income rose in 1958, price increases wiped out the gains in purchasing power. This means further weakness in the dollar.

Many Democrats are urging that the government
"peg" bond prices. This has been done before and it has led to serious consequences.
Marriner Eccles, who was once chairman of the Federal Reserve Board during a Democratic administration, recently said:

"A large part of the postwar price inflation was a result of the Federal Reserve's purchasing billions of dollars of government securities at fixed prices in order to prevent an increase in interest rates."

The whole situation is smoldering now and Democratic leaders in congress are apparently drifting along on the mistaken theory that the interest problem can be further neglected. They never made a bigger mistake.

All About Pets

Dogs, Cats Aren't the Only Pets; Plenty of Others Own Their Owners

BY JACK GLASNER
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

While dogs and cats are the most common American pets, there are plenty of fish, birds, reptiles and miscellaneous animals keeping families amused and entertained.

Veterinarians spend most of their time on warm-blooded mammals, farm and pet, but they also know about fish and birds.

Probably the most popular bird pet is the parakeet.

A parakeet's cage should be about five feet above the floor, away from the radiator or the door and not in the path of a direct draft. Ordinary room temperatures between 65 and 75 degrees are satisfactory for the birds, but they should not be exposed to sudden changes in temperature, drafts or kept in sunlight for more than a short time.

Parakeets should be fed seeds and grains, and most pet stores carry commercial mixtures. Greens, such as lettuce, spinach, chickweed, lawn grass or a slice of apple, provide variety. Cottage cheese and whole wheat bread usually are relished by parakeets.

Special Diets, Too

The birds also need plenty of clean water and should occasionally have access to gritty gravel grow too long for the bird to help them grind their food, pick up food conveniently, so Calcium and minerals are you may have to trim them with scissors and smooth the edges with a nail file.

Parakeets are normally quite healthy, if they get enough exercise, their cages are kept clean and their diet maintained. However, if your bird sits still with its feathers fluffed up, looks droopy, moves its tail up and down and refuses food he normally likes, it's very likely the bird is ill. Sick birds will not sing or chirp and often show evidence of diarrhea.

A sick bird should be separated from any cage companions immediately and it's a good idea to consult a veterinarian to see what can be done.

About Canaries

Colds probably are the No. 1 ailment of parakeets. They also suffer from certain intestinal ailments, external parasites, broken bones and certain other fowl diseases.

There are three usual types of canaries and their care is very similar to that for parakeets. With good care, canaries live 16 years or more.

Other successful bird pets are finches, parrots, myna birds and crows. Because of the size of some of these, it is best to be sure the cage will be durable and roomy enough. Finches and parrots eat about the same as a parakeet, myna birds must be fed a little differently and crows are usually content on a diet of kitchen scraps.

Tropical fish need warm water in which to live and a correct diet, but with more than 300 varieties available, they are an exotic and fascinating source of entertainment.

The only tanks recommended for fish are rectangular types with a large air surface for the water. A 2-inch layer of coarse sand or gravel goes in the bottom of the tank. Fish find it difficult to survive in fresh tap water—when water stands for several days, it absorbs oxygen and is called conditioned water. Allow water to stand for at least a week before putting it into the tank.

Gretchen Eggert, 7-Year-Old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle 711 S. Mason street, peers at exotic tropical fish swimming in one of her father's eight aquariums in the family's basement. Eggert got interested in tropical fish a few years ago, now raises enough to sell a few to pet shops in the area.

Used in laboratories and popular as pets, they are

Tiny, Clean Hamsters

Hamsters are small rodents with large cheek pouches and a short tail, first introduced in the U.S. in 1938. Used in laboratories and popular as pets, they are raised throughout the country. A full-grown hamster fits into the palm of the hand, is affectionate and easy to handle.

Hamsters are clean animals with no body odor, no lice and no fleas. Two years ordinarily is a ripe old age for a hamster, but with proper care they can live three or four. Hamsters are sold by pet shops and can be ordered by mail.

Hamsters have no ills of their own, no germs and no vermin which can be transmitted to those handling them. They are not subject to digestive troubles. However, they may bruise each other when fighting, are sensitive to drafts and have occasional toothaches.

He May Have a Cold

Do not handle a hamster when you have a cold. He may catch it. When he pays no attention to a regular call for food or huddles in a corner, something is wrong. Pick him up and examine him for bruises or cuts. If the hamster is cool to your touch and lies very still, he probably has a cold. The best treatment is to keep him warm. If the pet doesn't respond, take him to a veterinarian. Proper diet helps prevent tooth trouble.

Rabbits are easy to handle, are gentle and respond to affection. They can do a few tricks and are smart enough to be tidy. A quiet animal, rabbits love quietness. They eat a wide variety of food and rarely tire of repetitive dishes. With proper care and housing, rabbits rarely become ill and can live about eight years.

It is best to buy a rabbit under a year old, since older rabbits do not adjust to a new home and will not easily be trained.

Keep Them Clean

Rabbits have never developed any resistance to dirt, so unsanitary living conditions and contaminated food can start a long string of diseases. Dampness and drafts should be avoided, since they lower resistance. Rabbits are subject to colds, diarrhea, a condition called 'slobbers,' especially affecting young rabbits, sore eyes and ear canker.

In all cases with pets, whether dogs, cats or those mentioned in this article, the essential things for owners to watch are sanitary conditions and a proper diet. If these things are carried for, the animal, fish or fowl will usually remain healthy and responsive.

2 Menasha Men Hurt at Work

Menasha — Two Menasha men were hurt in industrial accidents reported Tuesday.

Victor St. Peter, 63, 218 Lake street, was taken to Theda Clark hospital in the Neenah ambulance after suffering a hand injury while working at the Marathon corporation about 7:06 p.m.

St. Peter injured fingers on his hand in a printing press in the wax department. He was reported in good condition at the hospital this morning.

Buffalo Woman Recalls Autograph Hunting Days

Buffalo, N.Y. — Mrs. Olive Staiger is 73 and still stagestruck. Her dearest possession is a clothful of stars. The cloth is a cotton square covered with autographs of 43 stars famous in the history of the legitimate theater. Sarah Bernhardt, Lillian Russell, Otis Skinner, Mrs. Patrick Campbell, Henry Miller and Ethel Barrymore are just a few.

As a young girl, Mrs. Staiger had little chance to attend the theater, so she mailed the cloth to theaters in Buffalo and whenever her favorite performers appeared.

"I was just a silly girl then," she laughs, "and whenever I would hold the cloth to my face and try to capture the smell and excitement of the theater where it had been."

The cloth was mailed back and forth from 1902 to 1910. Mrs. Staiger embroidered the signatures to preserve them. Ethel Barrymore was the last to sign. "She kept it for months," says Mrs. Staiger, "and finally after I had sent her four or five letters she returned it. That convinced me I didn't want to chance losing it, and I decided to stop the collection."

Since then the cloth has been framed under glass and Mrs. Staiger says she'll never take it out or part with it.

The widow of a businessman, Mrs. Staiger lives alone now. She says the cloth evokes a whole colorful world for her.

"My family would never have approved my trying for a career on the stage but I've always been stagestruck. And I'll probably always be."

Teach Child to Make Decisions

Oshkosh — Children need to learn to make decisions. Choices, if used wisely, are to let a child start making decisions, suggests Miss Lois Klumeyer, county home agent.

Making a choice is difficult for the child and parents should steer him gently, but firmly in the direction that is best for him. Too many choices only confuse the youngster so only offer those which are necessary.

It is important to help the child see the limit of the decision and specific terms parents expect. Be especially careful of choices that can be answered "no."

Given Clean Slate

Netting of Lake Winnebago Rough Fish Gets Thorough Discussion

Menasha — The netting of rough fish in Lake Winnebago again came in for a thorough discussion, this time at the meeting of the Twin City Rod and Gun club Tuesday night at Germania hall.

Present to offer the conservation department's side of the story was Richard Harris, fisheries chief for the Oshkosh office, and Tom Wirth, fisheries biologist.

They are visiting such groups of sportsmen to discuss the petitions being circulated which seek to have commercial fishermen discontinue taking of sheephead and other rough fish from Winnebago.

Harris declared that rumors of commercial fishermen taking game fish have been thoroughly investigated and in all instances the fishermen were given a clean slate.

"Supervised to Death" "These fishermen actually are supervised to death," the fisheries chief explained. They are supervised by wardens, by two fisheries men and through roving checks, by binoculars and at docksides, he added.

Harris told that the fishermen have too much at stake—that they are bonded at $1,000 and have $10,000 to $15,000 in equipment and they know they have to make a volume catch out there to make a living.

In all the five years since the rough fish control measure has started, he has received no affidavit or sworn statements of violations, the speaker said.

Good Support Good support has been received from conservation groups in Fond du Lac, Brillion, Outagamie county, Oshkosh and other Winnebago land areas, Harris said.

Harris reported that there are now three times as many perch in the big lake as in 1954 and twice as many white bass. The walleye population is about the same but the hatch this year is excellent. Wirth reported.

Related to Chemistry The commercial fishermen stay out of the lake in July, the fisheries man stated. They returned Aug. 3 and will be out there until the ice no longer permits them to operate.

Millions of pounds of sheep-head have been netted since the program began and the Lake up to July 1 of this year is 2 million pounds.

"The future of fish management is related to chemistry," Harris said, citing the chemicals which have been developed to eliminate the lamprey. When such poisons are developed, carp will get first priority because it is the big problem all over, he went on.

Asked about lamprey in Lake Winnebago, Harris believes that those reported by fishermen are the chestnut eel which is native to Winnebago adding that the lake doesn't have the kind of water suitable to the lamprey.

He stated that fish management receives lot of criticism but those same persons aren't critical of those who are trying to control cancer and polio

Revise Rules For Rod, Gun Club Contest

Menasha — Because many club members do their angling outside the area, the Twin City Rod and Gun club revised its fishing contest rules at a meeting Tuesday night at Germania hall.

Previously all fish had to be weighed at the Neenah or Menasha Fire stations to be eligible for the contest. Under the revisions, entries from club members will be accepted if weighed in at an official station outside the Twin Cities and signed by an authorized person.

Club members discussed the recent purchase of 20 acres of land for their shooting range. The club is in the process of getting the grass mowed and plans call for the setting up of shooting ranges of 50 yards and from 100 to 150 yards.

Donations are being taken from club members to help pay for the land and as of Tuesday, 55 of the membership of 250 had contributed. The club's next monthly meeting will be held Sept. 22.

Clark said the department has received complaints recently that power boaters were running close to anchored fishermen's boats, endangering them with the wakes.

Clark promised the police boat would be launched in the Menasha water jurisdiction to enforce regulations against careless boat operation.

Parents who allow their children to use power boats are asked to see they know and obey boat traffic regulations.

New Books at Library

Reminiscences of Roosevelt Saga Told by Mrs. 'T. R.' Jr.

Neenah — "The day before yesterday," by Eleanor B. Roosevelt, is now available at Elsie D. Smith public library.

The reminiscences of Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., highlight an important chapter in the great Roosevelt family saga. The book tells, in colorful detail, of New York City's horse-and-carriage days, of Europe during two World Wars, of big-game hunting, of politics and prohibition and of "high society."

Pope John XXIII is one of the most interesting and important figures on the world scene today. His biography, "Pope John XXIII," by Zolt Aradi, based in part on personal contacts with the Pope's relatives, friends, and associates and on his own writings, gives a picture of a man little known to the English-speaking world prior to his election. "One Thousand One Questions Answered About the Modern Kingdom" by Richard M. Pearl is in question-and-answer style, designed for easy reference to a thorough survey of the wonderful world of minerals, rocks, ores, gems and meteorites. Two more in the University of Michigan History of the Modern World series are: "Italy" by Denis Mack Smith, and "France" by Albert Guerard.

"Harp Into Battle" by Cernance of Wales, is set against the colorful background of Wales and England in the 12th century. This book's most important contribution is the portrayal of Llewelyn as a man of peace, compelled by circumstances to be a man of power. His position is comparable to that of America today — a nation of peace forced by circumstances to be a nation of power.

Another novel, "The memoirs of Dunstan Barr," in its picture of American life in two centuries, is a true saga of our nation. Author Jonathan Fields depicts the common American experience, happy and sad. Two other no-

Theme of the Aug. 19-21 meeting was "Growing Individual Values Within the Family," its underlying idea how professional workers can aid family stability.

Dr. Nachlas participated in the marriage counseling section of discussions.

A record number of entries is expected from junior exhibitors at the Winnebago county fair which opens Tuesday at the fairgrounds. Exhibitors will start arriving Monday to get set up for the judging which will open at 9 a.m. Tuesday.

Westfahl has announced that those 4-H leaders who wish to attend the annual meeting in Madison Oct. 26 to 29 are to contact the county extension office.

Members of county clubs are currently preparing project records so they can be turned in to leaders shortly after the county fair. This is one of the gauges used in determining achievement and progress during the year.

Committee Exonerates Police Of Delay in Teen Knife Case

The city council's public safety committee Tuesday exonerated the police department of failure to act promptly in the July 29 knife threats of teenagers to a S. Mueller street father and his son.

Exact wording of the report the committee will make to the council Sept. 2 says that the committee investigation Tuesday showed "no evidence that the police department did not follow proper procedure."

The unanimous committee vote came after Ald. Roy Pointer, who made the incident public, said he was satisfied.

Committeemen said they were more than willing to accept Chief of Police Walter J. Hendricks' explanation of what happened — especially since the father, Ivo Lamers, 33, of 724 S. Mueller, did not choose to attend the committee meeting and aid in the investigation.

Description Skimpy

Hendricks' explanation was in a prepared statement and in substance contended that Lamers furnished such a skimpy description of the youths who accosted him that there would not have been a follow-up the next day even if he (the chief) had not been on vacation at the time.

Policemen on duty at the nearby Pierce park youth dance did everything they could with the skimpy description, the chief said.

The patrolman at the park gate, Hendricks said, reported Lamers' complaint and descriptions to the captain in charge within a matter of minutes.

The captain and a detective immediately made an investigation within the park

Poor Public Relations

"Normally, the incident would have been called to my attention by the captain on night duty the day following, but I was on vacation. However, had I been available, the matter having been promptly processed in accordance with the usual procedure of the police department at the time of its occurrence, no further investigation would have been made."

Later, the chief said the only reason he sent a detective to see Lamers after receiving a letter from Richard Mathews, Lamers' neighbor, was that the captain involved was unavailable and he wanted to find out what it was all about.

Ald. Mrs. Stillings, a committee member, said the situation appeared to be a case of poor public relations with Lamers. The man should have been called and told what had happened.

The man, the chief countered, should have pressed a formal complaint at the police station and Ald. Pointer should have come to him (the chief) before airing his grievances publicly.

This bent of conversation elicited a promise from Hendricks that he would "bend over backwards" to answer questions by aldermen who come to the station and ask their questions. He said he has always done this.

Wife Refused

It also drew an observation that people generally figure they have done enough if they complain to one policeman, any policeman.

Hendricks, Capt. Harry Salzman and Ald. Cahries Captain said they understand Lamers first asked his wife to call the police and when she refused, hurried to the park.

At the park gate, when asked to put on more clothes and report the incident to the captain at the pavilion, Lamers is reported to have said he didn't wish to press charges.

The meeting was charged with emotion at the outset.

Committee Chairman Thomas K. Schneider laid out the rules, based on an opinion by City Atty. Don L. Jury: The question is whether proper procedures were followed.

Snappy Repartee

Pointer insisted there were no charges to be made, that he simply wanted to know what more Lamers could have done to aid the investigation, and if the incident didn't point up things which could be done to improve the police department, "make it an asset to the city."

Hendricks immediately interjected "You should have come to me ..." and demand that whatever was being contended "be put on paper and signed."

Pointer deplored the personalities, insisted he was not interested in personalities and sighed, "I knew this would happen."

Later, Pointer asked, "Was the newspaper right? The first you knew of this was Thursday?"

"I've made my statement," snapped Hendricks.

Dick F. Zingsheim, assembly candidate last fall, was awarded time to praise the police department and commented in part, "I don't believe any citizen or alderman has the right to take pot shots at the police department."

Criticism Hurts

"If you want to make an efficient police department, pay them adequate salaries," said Zingsheim. "You won't get J. Edgar Hoover for $6,000 a year."

Hendricks subsequently told the committee his problem in getting men for the force is no so much the low starting salary, but the possibility of public criticism. He called his department one of the finest collection of men in the state. The chief said he could find no fault with the park dances. Neighbors complain about the disruption of "peace and tranquility in the night," he said, but large gatherings of youth can be expected to cause these things.

Mayor Mitchell said Ald. R. P. Groh had been misquoted by the Post-Crescent, that he does not think the park dances are becoming rougher.

In talking of a gentleman's agreement between the chief and city officials who have questions, Mrs. Stillings said the chief also has been in-

Oneida Man Placed On Probation After Charges by Wife

Willard Johnson, 38, route 1, Oneida, charged with disorderly conduct by his wife, Nellie, Tuesday in municipal court was placed on probation to the state department of public welfare for one year.

His wife told sheriff's officers he had been beating her and Saturday refused to give her grocery money, instead taking the children on a round of taverns.

Forfeits $25

James C. Johnston, 49, route 1, Berlin, forfeited $25 bond in municipal court Tuesday on a charge of drunkenness. He was arrested Saturday in the town of Greenville, riding with Mrs. Inez Reinke, Oshkosh, who has been convicted of drunken driving.

Indulging in public statements, against the council. She cited his laying blame for a police squad car accident on lack of men.

Misquoted

"I made no such statement. ... I was misquoted," explained the chief.

Asked what statement he did make, the chief said he did not blame the council, but did say each squad car ought to have two men.

Mayor Mitchell pressed for a committee resolution which would use the word "exonerated," but the idea was rejected in favor of the earlier-reported wording.

Assure Plants

High Potash Blend Replaces Bone Meal Once Used on Bulbs

Two new formulas are being used this fall to start lawns and assure flowering plants.

One, a high potash formula replaces and feeds plants exactly the same quantities of elements a high phosphorus fertilizer such as bone meal once did. The new bulb food is designed for use on all types of bulbs, corms and tu-bers, including tulips, daffodils, irises, peonies and dahlias.

The other, lawn starter, is high in phosphorus to correct the most common deficient element of a new lawn or soil. The starter is light in weight but highly concentrated. It should be spread before the seedbed is tilled. Both products were introduced by Swift and company.

Reminder Issued Reserve Farmers

An 8-point reminder to Soil Bank Conservation reserve contract farmers was issued by Bert Weyenberg, chairman of Outagamie county ASC.

Farmers responsibilities are no crop harvest from reserve land; no grazing permitted on it; vegetation cover established and or maintained; if conservation practice authorized and was not established by designated date, notify county office.

Others are no soil bank base crop can be grown if all eligible and is in reserve; do not exceed permitted acreage of soil bank base crop if only part of eligible land in reserve; comply with acreage allotment in effect on your farm, and control noxious weeds on reserve land.

Giant Broiler Processing Plant Takes Up Clintonville Residence

BY MILDRED LAIR

Clintonville — Early this summer, the Wright Broiler company, Inc., began operations in its new $200,000 poultry processing plant in the industrial park in the northeast section of the city.

The plant was moved here from Shawano to occupy the 134 by 100-foot masonry building erected by Greater Clintonville No. 2, an industrial development corporation. The building is being sold to the Wright firm under a lease-purchase agreement.

Chester Wright is president and his brother, Lem, is secretary and in charge of the hatchery at Shawano. Their father operated a hatchery at Gresham and it was through this association that Chet started a fryer business in 1947. The growth of the firm is evinced by the fact that more than one and a quarter million dollars were grossed in 1958.

Supervised Raising

Chickens brought to the plant are raised under the supervision and control of the firm. Breeding flocks are placed with flock owners. The eggs are then taken to the hatchery at Shawano, where between 40,000 to 45,000 chicks a week are hatched.

Presently there are about 25 growers who have 250,000 chicks on feed. The chickens, feed and insurance are supplied by Wright at no cost to the grower.

Any grower entering into a contract with the Wright company must agree to place a stipulated number of birds and to furnish sufficient labor, heat, light, ventilation, water, litter and suitable buildings and equipment to care for them.

Wide Area

The live chickens are brought to the new processing plant here from a radius of approximately 150 miles. The equipment for this operation represents an investment by Wright of $80,000, and the building itself was constructed by Greater Clintonville No. 2 at a cost of $120,000.

Currently 1,200 chickens an hour are processed. The plant has a capacity of handling 1,500 birds an hour. With additional equipment, it would be possible to increase this to 2,500 to 3,000 an hour. Fifty workers have been employed.

The crates of live birds entering the receiving dock are placed on a conveyor belt to a line where employees open the crates and the birds are hung on the line.

The birds travel to the room where they are killed, then go into the scalding, and through three automatic pickers. Finish picking is done by hand. After the chickens are singed, they go through a washer and have the feet cut off.

U. S. Inspected

The chickens are then transferred from the dressing line to the eviscerating line where a U.S. department of agriculture employee is stationed as a resident inspector.

At the end of the line, a wing tag carrying Wright's trademark is clipped on each chicken. Then the chickens are graded for weight in quarter-pound gradations from an average of 2 to 3 1/2 pounds. They are then kept in chill tanks for four hours or until the bird's temperature is down to 34 degrees. They then are boxed, approximately 24 to a box. Each box contains the same weight birds.

The boxes are ice-packed, taken to the cooler, and stored ready for distribution to wholesalers. The chickens are sold on a wholesale basis to retail outlets within the radius of the state of Wisconsin and upper Michigan, according to Chet Wright.

The firm's slogan, "Eat the Wright Chicken," is, being believed. The demand most of the time is greater than the supply, he said.

'59 Corn Crop Below Average

Canning Concern At Dundas Reports Average at 2 Ton

Dundas — Ray Driessen, manager of the Fall River Canning company here, reports this year's corn crop as only a fair yield compared to the high yields reported from other parts of the state. The concern usually processes between three and one-half and four tons during a good year while this year it is estimated about two or two and one-half tons will be processed.

Corn is furnished by farms in Calumet, Outagamie, Brown and Manitowoc counties. Currently two shifts are being operated with 150 people employed. The number on the payroll is about average, according to the manager.

Canning operations are expected to continue for about two or three weeks after which the concern will cease production until next summer when the pea crop is ready. The Dundas plant cans peas and whole kernel corn.

Driessen estimates 80,000 to 85,000 cases of corn will be turned out, about the same as last year.

Cattle Prices Expected to Start Falling

They Will Follow
Example Set
By Hog Prices

Washington — U-P — Cattle prices are expected to start falling next year, following the example already set by hog prices. The reason is the same: the continued upward trend of livestock production.

Prices of cattle have been unusually stable this year, in contrast with an almost uninterrupted rise during the previous two years.

This says the agriculture department, suggests a peak has been reached and a decline is coming.

Price Decline
"Chief factor pointing to the beginning of a price decline in 1960 is the big inventory of slaughter steers and heifers being built up," says the department in a report on the livestock and meat situation. "By the end of 1959, steer and beef heifer numbers on farms may be around 25 percent greater than three years before. Even at a slow rate of marketing, slaughter supplies in 1960 would be appreciably above this year."

The price level, though is expected to decline slowly. Here is what the department says the declining livestock prices will mean to a housewife in a supermarket:

Check Trend
Hogs — prices of pork products will be considerably lower this fall than last.

Housewives will buy leaner pork on the market because producers believe women want this type meat. In addition the federal government is considering purchase of pork and pork products for distribution in the national school lunch program.

Cattle — prices of beef cuts of choice grade have been very near levels a year earlier.

1,000 Employed

State Farm Census Begins In September by Districts

This fall nearly 1,000 persons will be employed in Wisconsin from September on into November to help take an agricultural census in the state.

The work will be by district supervisors, crew leaders and enumerators. The latter make the farm to farm calls, with questions on crops, stock and implements on the farms and other data.

Once in five years after these census the Wisconsin state department of agriculture publishes a book on each county in the state.

Some Guessing
There is some guessing on what the 1959 census will reveal. The first census taken in Waupaca county was in 1860, following the clearing of part of the forests. At that time there were 857 farms reported.

The last census in 1954 listed 3418 farms in Waupaca county. When the county celebrated its centennial and effort was made to learn the number of family farms in this county.

Farms that have been in family ownership for 100

U. S., Russia Lead World In Corn Output

Washington — U-P — The United States and Soviet Russia led the world to a record production of corn last year, the foreign agricultural service reported today.

World production was put at 7,300,000,000 bushels, or 11 percent above the large 1957 crop.

This country and the Soviet Union are now the ranking producers of this crop. U. S. production was 3,799,000,000 and Russia 600 million. Argentina ranked third with 215 million.

Russia's 1958 crop compared with 275 million the previous year and 190 million for the 1950-54 average. The U. S. average for this period was 3,112,000,000.

Heat Just Right But Only for One Thing — Corn

Madison — U-P — Wisconsin's hot, rainy and humid weather the last week was ideal for at least one purpose — corn growing.

The U. S. State Crop and Weather Summary said today surveys by farm reporters and county agents continued to point out growing conditions expected to give the state a record production.

Only in sandy soils, mostly in central counties, was rain too late to overcome the season's earlier dryness, the summary said. Around St. Croix county the corn prospect is not good and farmers were cutting for green feed or silo filling.

Harvesting of potatoes, beans and cucumbers continued.

One instance of fall plowing was noted in Adams county.

The last week saw the southern half of the state getting its hottest weather of the season. Temperatures averaged four to seven degrees above normal. Germantown and Racine had the highest readings, 97 on Aug. 21.

Wednesday, Aug. 26, 1959 Appleton Post-Crescent B12

Pine, Spruce Cones Market About to Open

Waupaca — The state conservation department is now buying pine and spruce cones for seed purposes, Dale Tubbs, Waupaca forester, said.

Good quality ripe cones may be sold either at the Wisconsin Rapids nursery, or at the Wautoma Ranger station, Tubbs said. The cones should be cut open first to determine if the seeds are firm. The cones must still be closed since the seeds drop when the cones are fully ripened.

Prices paid per bushel are White Spruce, $10; Norway Spruce, $3.50; Norway Pine, er. Prices could edge lower in 1960.

Lamb — retail cuts of lamb have been priced at about the same as last year. Competitive pressures from beef and pork may reduce prices a little.

$5, and White Pine, $2. According to Tubbs, most white spruce cones are ready for picking now and the others will be ready soon.

Braves Win Extra-Inning Decision From Cards, 3-1

Ray Boone Ties Score In Ninth

St. Louis — Ray Boone, an American league castoff, came through with a 2-out pinch single in the ninth inning Tuesday night that enabled the Milwaukee Braves to tie the score, and they went on to beat St. Louis, 3-1, in the tenth.

Joe Adcock drove in what proved to be the winning run in the overtime inning. Milwaukee played four games behind the leading San Francisco Giants and one-half game behind the second-place Los Angeles Dodgers.

Boone Adcock

Boone, pinch-hitting for Spahn, then smashed his tying single to center. It was his first hit for Milwaukee since coming to the club from Kansas City last week.

In the tenth, Eddie Mathews led off with his third hit, a double, and Adcock sent him home with a single. Adcock took second on the throw home. Felix Mantilla scored Adcock with a single to center.

The Cardinals had scored their one run in the seventh on Bill White's pop double to

NOTES and NOTIONS

If League President Hal Totten's recent statements in Lincoln, Neb., can be taken at their face value, we can stop worrying who the 3-1 league members will be in 1960 and start concentrating on how to strengthen and improve the circuit still more. After completing his tour of the league, Totten announced in the home of the Chiefs that the same eight teams will constitute the 1960 lineup. Lincoln was the last to flash the green light. Despite their financial troubles of '59, the Chiefs made the move without undue hesitancy.

If all this is true (and we have had no official communique from Totten towers yet), it will be the first time in the last three or four stormy years that the 3-1 league hasn't had to wait until past the first snowfall to be certain of an operational complement. And, it would also rule out any maneuvering at the winter parley by cities at either the western or eastern frontier to oust some "too distant" club from membership. If Lincoln had dropped out, Davenport would have been the likely replacement, according to Totten. Club President A. Q. Schimmel announced that the Chiefs plan to continue their working agreement with the White Sox in '60. He believes that a number of revenue sources—including help from the major league fund and added working agreement payments from the Sox—will dry up most of the red ink that has flowed freely this season.

In the home stretch of the current campaign, the Fox Cities Foxes not only are questing for a high finish in the second-round race but are still in their pitching for a slice of the full-season swag. Only the first four clubs share in the league's prize money. On an over-all basis, the Foxes rank sixth, only one game behind fifth-place Sioux City and three games behind fourth-place Lincoln. Des Moines, Green Bay and Topeka are running 1-2-3. The Demons would be leading the Bluejays by one game if there had been no split season.

Iowa's Hawkeyes have lost a second highly-touted quarterback before fall practice even begins. First, Mitch Ogizio dropped out of school (or was dropped). Now, Ed Tranczygier—counted on to be either No. 1 or 2 QB—has become ineligible. But, the unfazed Iowa fans are snapping up tickets at the fastest rate in history despite the loss of these quarterbacks and speed demon Willie Fleming. In fact, the Hawks' 8,000-ticket allotment for the Oct. 17 UW game at Madison has practically been depleted already.

When the Badgers' Milt Bruhn visited here last week, he warned against feeling sorry for Iowa. Coach Forrest Evashevski has the best sophomore crop in many years, according to Milt. And Bruhn also reminded that fullback Don Horn—who he says hurt Wisconsin more the last two years than Randy Duncan or anybody else—has made up his scholastic deficiency and is ready to go.

Bruhn paid "Liz" Blackburn a compliment by admitting he is worried about what Marquette will throw at the Badgers this season. He feels that the Pittsburgh game (the Warriors' Sept. 19 opener) will be a mighty accurate barometer of MU's strength.

Though the Badger football team has any number of outstanding competitors, Bruhn is inclined to rate Bob Zeman and Jerry Staleup at the head of the class. He claims he's never seen two players who get so high before game-time. If they weren't held in check, Bruhn intimates, the boys might be in orbit before the opening kick-off.

As you might expect, the question most often encountered by Ron Nord (former Oshkosh cage coach and now a UW aide) when he was here on UW coaches' day was: What about Frank Burks? Burks, who inspired more comment in one-half season as a freshman than many players do in their whole varsity careers, passed two summer courses, said Nord. But, the earliest Burks can become eligible for basketball is for the second semester. And, before that can happen, fabulous Frank will have to take—and pass—17 more credits in the first semester. It's a long bet, says Nord frankly. If Burks does make it, John Erickson, Nord and Co. will regard his addition as all gravy—and mighty rich gravy, at that.

Nord made no bones about his pleasure at having Appleton's Jack Ullwelling on his side this fall. Through three years of high school as a Terror eager Ullwelling made life pretty trying for Nord. The coach said great things are expected of Jack. He will be carrying quite a load—perhaps a bigger load than a sophomore should be asked to handle—Nord adds.

Leaders Score 30th 1-Run Win of Year

By The Associated Press

The Chicago White Sox, fighting frantically to keep the American league lead, did it again Tuesday night.

They were down, 4-2, with one out in the ninth and hitless since the fourth inning while second-place Cleveland's seventh straight victory blazed on the scoreboard.

Then, whoops!

Goodman Doubles

Four consecutive singles gave 'em two runs and a tie in the ninth, and with two out in the tenth, a walk and Billy Goodman's double beat Boston, 5-4, retaining Chicago's 2-game edge over the Indians.

It was the White Sox' thirtieth victory in 38 one-run decisions, their eleventh in 13 extra-inning games, and the twentieth game they've won in the final inning.

The Indians matched their longest winning streak of the season by whipping New York, 6-3, as Rocky Colavito drove in four runs with two homers.

Kansas City beat Baltimore, 6-5, and Washington defeated Detroit, 3-1.

The White Sox, blowing a 2-1 lead when Frank Malzone tagged starter Dick Donovan for a two-run homer in the fourth, had only four hits off

Cash Goodman

Boston's Frank Sullivan until the ninth. They chased the big right-hander when Al Smith got a had-hop hit and Norm Cash, whose third homer had tied it 1-all in the second, singled.

Lown Wins It

Mike Fornieles (3-3) came on for the Red Sox and gave up RBI singles to Jim Rivera and pinch hitter Johnny Romano that tied it.

"Turk" Lown, following reliever Gerry Staley, collected a 9-2 record for the Sox with a hitless tenth.

The Indians, out-hit, 12-6.

'Cup' Lineups Regarded as Open Secrets

New York — One of the worst-kept secrets in tennis was to be let out of the bag today in the draw for the Davis cup challenge round.

For weeks, both Perry Jones, the U.S. captain, and Harry Hopman, Australian pilot, have declined to name the makeup of their teams for the event starting Friday at Forest Hills. But if anyone other than Alex Olmedo and Barry MacKay is named for the American singles assignments or Neale Fraser and Rod Laver for the Australians, it would come as the year.

Likewise, Olmedo and Earl Buchholz are regarded as certain to carry the U.S. hopes in doubles, while Fraser is expected to team with Roy Emerson for Australia.

Golf Cart Tears Big Hole in Helicopter

At Milwaukee Tripoli

Milwaukee — A gaping hole was torn in a helicopter Tuesday when an electric golf cart ran into it at Tripoli Country club, site of the Miller Open Golf tournament.

PGA officials Harvey Raynor and Joe Black, riding in the cart, went to meet the helicopter when it landed to pick up two golfers to take them to Glenview, Ill., for an exhibition match.

Raynor forgot to set the little machine's hand brake when he left the cart and it ran into the helicopter.

Milton Eisenhower, Daley Will Preside at Thursday's Opening

Chicago — An athletic army of 2,152 from 24 countries in the Western hemisphere was poised to launch the third Pan-American games after Thursday's dramatic opening ceremonies.

In oppressive heat which wilted even the Latin-American athletes, the biggest international sports event ever held in this country awaited traditional opening day festivities in mammoth Soldier field.

These include a 24-gun salute, one blast for each nation entered; a parade of athletes; and the release of 5,000 doves, symbolizing peace and friendship among nations.

Dr. Milton Eisenhower, in behalf of his brother, President Eisenhower, and Mayor Richard J. Daley, will pronounce the official opening of the games as a friendship torch, carried from Mexico City, touches off a huge gas-powered torch atop the Soldier field scoreboard.

The friendship torch, an electronic device, has been carried 2,400 miles from Mexico City — scene of the last Pan-Am games in 1955 — by a relay of Boy Scouts.

For the 20-sport competition which begins Friday, the host U. S. squad has the biggest entry, 406, and by far its most fearsome in the comparatively brief history of the games.

Other countries entered are Argentina, Bahamas, Bermuda, Brazil, British Guiana, Canada, Chile, Costa Rica, Cuba, Dominican Republic, Dutch Guiana, El Salvador, Ecuador, Guatemala, Mexico, Netherlands, Antilles, Nicaragua, Panama, Peru, Puerto Rico, Uruguay, Venezuela, and British West Indies.

Red' Told He Can Rejoin Braves Sept. 1

St. Louis — Red Schoendienst has been told by his physician that he can rejoin the Milwaukee baseball club Sept. 1 and will be able to fill in for a few innings at his old post at second base and as a pinch hitter.

The veteran Milwaukee infielder, who has been recovering from tuberculosis, sat on the Braves' bench Tuesday night when Milwaukee defeated St. Louis, 3-1, in 10 innings.

General Manager John McHale said that Dr. William A. Werner, who has been treating Schoendienst, told him that "Red" still has to take a chest X-ray Thursday but that this is strictly a precautionary measure.

"The doctor told me," McHale said, "that he can't see anything that will stand in the way of his playing part time anyway."

Packer Season Ticket Total Sets Record

Sale Ends Sept. 5; Individual Game Drive Starts Then

Post-Crescent News Service

Green Bay — The Packers' season ticket total for the four games in City stadium could reach 27,000.

That was the estimate today from Verne Lewellen, Packers administrative assistant, who revealed that the sale already has passed the total of a year ago. The figure in '58 was 26,078.

Lewellen said the demand for season tickets continues to be brisk but time is growing short. The sale will end on Saturday, Sept. 5, which also will be the date for the start of the sale of individual game tickets.

Individual game tickets for the Bear game are no longer available since the game has been sold out for more than a month.

Seats Available

However, fans can still see the Bear game by purchasing a season ticket. The City stadium card: Bears Sept. 27, Lions Oct. 4, 49ers Oct. 11 and Redskins Nov. 22. Good seats are available for the other three games.

Individual game tickets for the Packers' two games in Milwaukee County stadium will go on sale Sept. 1. The Packers play the Rams Oct. 18 and the Colts Nov. 15 in Milwaukee.

Earl Falk is director of tickets in Green Bay and Bob Schwartz handles the Milwaukee sale.

Meanwhile, the Packers are getting heavy work every day in Portland, Ore., where they will take on the Eagles in a non-league game Saturday night.

Coach Vince Lombardi is anxious to get another look at his rookies and undoubtedly will play most of them. In addition veteran fullback Howie Ferguson is scheduled to play some against the Eagles. His injured shoulder is healed enough to warrant a test.

Honolulu — Dommy Ursua, 114, Manila, stopped Ray Perez, 113, Honolulu, 9.

Tuesday Night's Results: Fox Cities 2, Cedar Rapids 1. Lincoln 5, Des Moines 1. Green Bay 5, Burlington 1. Sioux City 5, Topeka 5.

Cedar Rapids, Iowa — Strong-armed Hector Maestri continued his fancy pitching Tuesday night as he guided the Fox Cities Foxes to a 2-1 decision over Cedar Rapids.

In outdueling, Don MacLeod, the Three-I league's best (won-lost) percentage pitcher, Hector Maestri registered the ninth victory in his last 12 decisions. He has tied Dick Griffith and Fred Bruckbauer for the Foxes' most-victorious lead — at nine.

The loss was only MacLeod's second in 14 decisions. His other setback was 3-0 at the hands of Des Moines earlier this month.

Tonight, the Foxes play their 1959 finale in the Cedar Rapids park. They return to Goodland field Thursday night to begin a 6-game home stand, with Burlington the opening foe.

Maestri's mates gave him his working margin in the fourth inning. Phil Condu led off with a single and took second on an infield out. After "Potato" Pascual had fouled out, Jack Feller singled to left to score Condu. Feller advanced to second on Mack Jones' error on the same play.

Nate Oliver then lashed a triple to right center, counting the run that proved to be the clincher.

With three homers The Braves got their lone marker in the bottom of the fourth when "Corky" Withroe hit his season's seventeenth homer over the left field fence.

Snider, Hodges Each Unloads Homer; Antonelli Cops 18th As Giants Wallop Pirates, 12-5

By the Associated Press
"Duke" Snider and Gil Hodges, the gold dust guys of the Dodgers' past pennants, have jolted Los Angeles back into consciousness of the National league scramble for the flag.

After taking three in a row at Pittsburgh and skidding to third, the Dodgers now have taken two in a row at Philadelphia. And of their 13 runs in the two games, Snider and Hodges have driven in nine.

They combined for three runs as each rapped his twenty-first homer Tuesday night in a 5-2 victory over the last-place Phils.

Career of Silky Sullivan At an End

Del Mar, Calif. — Silky Sullivan, the barrel-chested horse who symbolized heart throbs and heartbreak for thousands of racing fans, is at the end of his career.

Tendon trouble has forced him out of the Del Mar meeting, and co-owner Tom Ross says the big fellow will be returned to his ranch for stallion duty.

Silky earned only $157,000 in three years of racing, and $83,400 of that came from winning the 1958 Santa Anita derby, his only major victory.

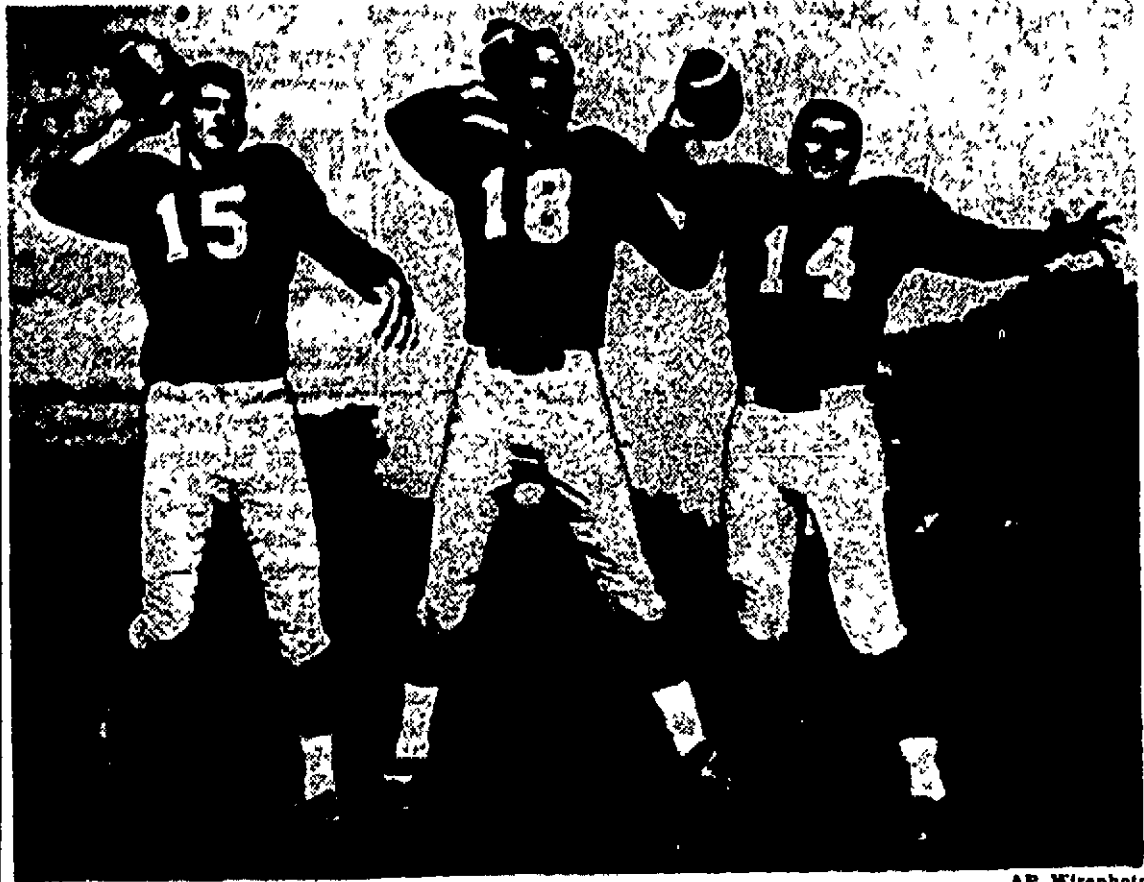

Silky didn't live up to his early reputation of running down the speed horses from 15 to 30 lengths back, and he failed miserably in the 1958 Kentucky derby and the Preakness.

Even tiny blood vessels have muscles—need exercise. Medical researchers are turning up new evidence on what exercise does for you. These Three Men are Competing for the Detroit Lions' No. 1 quarterback job this season. Left to right are Jerry Reichow, Tobin Rote and Earl Morrall. Rote was off stride last season after taking over the post when Bobby Layne went to Pittsburgh.

Offensive Line and Scoring Punch Are Big Question Marks for Lions

Rote, Johnson Must Come Back For Good Season

Detroit — If John Henry Johnson and Tobin Rote can come back and have good years, if the offensive line can provide protection for the passer, if the injury bug keeps its distance, then 1959 might be a pretty good year for the Detroit Lions.

Otherwise, the unpredictable Detroiters may be headed for another second division disaster in the Western division of the National Football league.

The Lions are an "iffy" club and Coach George Wilson, though a confessed optimist, is the first to admit it.

Either Way

"We have the kind of club that could go either way," he explained. "We lost quite a few men but we have a good bunch of aggressive sophomores. And we like our rookie crop, especially some of those big linemen and fullback Nick Pietrosante."

Wilson is inclined to believe the ifs will be with his club.

Indications are that the Lions, who had a shabby 4-7-1 record last year, are blessed with fine ends and a good defense. Big question marks in camp now are the offensive line and the scoring punch, or lack of it.

Rote, 31-year-old veteran of nine NFL campaigns, was off-stride last season after taking over the No. 1 quarterback spot by himself when the club dealt off Bobby Layne to Pittsburgh. Rote said his trouble stemmed from an aching shoulder. Off-season surgery repaired the damage and Rote is confident of a good season. Challenging him for the job are Earl Morrall and Jerry Reichow.

Chisox' Latest Hero Goodman Almost Quit Earlier This Year

Chicago — Billy Goodman, the latest hero in the Chicago White Sox drive for the American league pennant, nearly called it quits several weeks ago because he feared he was going to have a heart attack.

Ripped Muscle

"I had talked to my wife about it and was ready to give up," said Goodman after he had doubled home the winning run in Chicago's 5-4 victory over Boston in 10 innings Tuesday.

"I was having pains in my chest and down through my left arm," said Goodman. "I was convinced I was going to have a heart attack. So I thought I would call it quits."

It turned out that Goodman's pains were due to a ripped muscle in the chest and some virus trouble.

"When I was sure what the trouble was," continued Goodman, "I quit worrying and pretty soon everything was fine."

Goodman, who has a .305 life - time average and has raised his average .100 points in the last six weeks to .225, won the American league batting championship with a .354 average while with Boston in 1958.

UCT, Subway Gain City Meet Finals

Classic Loop Team Defeats Dugout in Rhubarb-Marked Tilt

Darkhorse UCT of the Fraternale league and Subway bar of the Classic circuit meet at 7:15 tonight for the championship of the Appleton City Softball tournament.

UCT knocked off a representative of the strong Classic wheel for the second straight evening Tuesday, defeating Bleier's bar, 5-4. The Fraternale loop club had bounced Classic champion Riverside Paper, 4-3 in Monday's quarter-finals.

Ties Game
Subway, already champion of the Luxembourg and Fox Valley tournaments, scored a forfeit triumph over Dugout in Tuesday's semi-finals.

The Subway-Dugout game was marked by a row which resulted in the eviction of two players and the forfeit.

Trailing, 6-0, in the bottom of the fifth, Dugout rallied for six runs to tie the game. Dugout then counted another run off reliever Bob Diener.

Behind, 7-6, in the top of the seventh, Subway tied the game when Claude Radtke walked, went to second on an error, stole third and scored on a wild pitch.

On the play at the plate Dugout pitcher Ken Lang and L. Lamers argued vehemently with plate umpire Orv Wonsler and Wonsler tossed both out of the game. That left Dugout with just seven players, and they weren't allowed to continue.

Bleier's rallied for three runs in the top of the seventh to almost erase a 5-1 UCT lead. Dave Schuster was the winning pitcher, tossing a 4-hitter with four strikeouts and six walks.

John Jooss was the loser. He allowed five hits, fanned three and walked two. Kielgas swatted a 1-run homer for Bleier's while teammate Jim Reetz had two hits. Charles Miller had a pair of hits for UCT.

Only 4 Hits
Spahn, bidding for his seventeenth victory, allowed just four hits and walked one. The only time he was in trouble was the seventh.

Gibson, a 23-year-old right-hander, pitched out of several jams through eight innings. He struck out seven, but walked five. He gave up 10 hits. Don Blasingame backed him with three sparkling fielding plays at second and Boyer added one at third.

Hank Aaron continued in his batting slump, failing to get a hit in five times at bat. His league - leading average dropped to .360.

Carl Willey, 5-6, is slated to pitch for the Braves tonight, going against Larry Jackson 10-12.

Bluejays Trim Bees, 5-1, Gain Tie For 2nd Place
By The Associated Press
The Three-I league is down to the last two weeks of the season and it may be a scrap all the way.

Des Moines lost none of its first-place margin in a 5-1 defeat at Lincoln Tuesday night, but now there are three challengers only two and a half games back, where the day before there was only one.

Sloux City and Green Bay virtually tied Topeka for second place, the Soos beating the Reds, 5-3, and the Bluejays trimming Burlington, 5-10.

The Soos are percentage points behind the other two. In the night's other game, Fox Cities shaded Cedar Rapids, 2-1.

Des Moines stranded 13 runners in its loss to Lincoln. Both teams had eight hits. Don Bacon paced the Chiefs' attack by driving in one run with a single and scoring another after he singled and stole second.

Don Kenway, who pitched a 6-hitter, and Bob Parker both socked 2-run homers in the second for Green Bay. George Scott also homered for the Bluejays.

Bud Blemker, notching his eighth victory in 10 decisions, hurtled Topeka into 6-hit submission for Sloux City.

Los Angeles' Mickey Thompson (shown inset) Tuesday set a new American auto speed mark of 332.809 MPH. The drag parachute at the rear is used to halt the auto after the run over a 9-mile course on Utah's Bonneville Salt Flats. Thompson says he hopes to reach 400 MPH. The world record of 394.196 was set by the late John Cobb, England, 12 years ago.

Washington — When Miss Goodwin has burned three strokes off par. Defending champion Anne Quast of Amesbury, Mass., is the only other subpar contender. She's 1 under for 26. Miss Gunderson is 2 over for 28.

Miss Goodwin was to face Ruth Miller White, 39-year-old Whittier, Calif., housewife, in one of this morning's 16 third-round contests.

Two rounds were on schedule today for the only double-header day of the 59th Women's National.

Your Money's Worth Interest Rate Should Be Raised on Bonds

BY SYLVIA PORTER
Warning to the 86th Congress of the United States: Before you adjourn, pass a law permitting the treasury to raise the interest rate scale it pays to the millions of Americans who today hold or are buying U. S. savings bonds. If you don't you will:

Invite an avalanche of cash-ins of savings bonds by little investors who have bought these bonds with the idea of keeping them to maturity but who are now aware that the top rate they can earn on the bonds is far below what they can get on a deposit in most savings banks;

Drastically curtail the sale of new bonds to wage and salary earners who would like to buy the bonds for their basic nesteggs but who also know that the pay scale on the bonds has become glaringly out of line with the general level of interest rates;

Borrow Billions
Risk forcing your own U.S. Treasury to borrow billions of cash via expensive short-term I.O.U.s in order to get the money needed to pay off bonds presented for redemption by disillusioned holders;

Give corporations which never liked the job of maintaining employee payroll savings programs a perfect excuse to cut off the programs and thereby deprive employees of the greatest medium for regular, disciplined savings ever devised in our land;

Undermine the reputation of the U.S. Treasury among financiers the world over who are fully informed about our debt management problems.

Financial Plan
It is inconceivable that our Congress does not appreciate the importance of a thriving savings bond program to the Treasury and realize the place the bonds play in the financial lives of millions of families.

Over 40,000,000 Americans now own more than $42 billion of these riskless, non-marketable bonds which pay three per cent interest if held for three years, 3 1/2 per cent if held to maturity in eight years, 11 months.

Since World War II, the program has become increasingly endangered in recent years as interest rates have climbed across-the-board. The pay scale on savings bonds also has become progressively less attractive. Redemptions of the bonds totaled $507 million last month against new sales of only $350 million. For 12 months redemptions have been topping sales — meaning the program has been going in reverse.

Rate Realities
In recognition of the interest rate realities, the Treasury in June asked Congress to permit it to boost the pay scale so the bonds would pay 3 and three-fourths per cent if held to maturity.

Opposition to the removal of the 4 1/2 per cent ceiling has been intense. This reflects a combination of honest doubt about the economic effect of rising interest rates and pure politics. Congress has turned down this request.

Congress still can pass a separate bill permitting the savings bond rate hike. The Treasury doesn't want to setle for this, but it will to avert a flood of cash-ins and keep the program alive.

If Congress does this? Then, a recommendation of the bonds for basic savings nesteggs again will be justified.

If Congress does not? Then no one can forecast what might happen. A calling of a special session actually might be necessary to rescue the program from slaughter.

Congress ignores what is at stake here.

Park Board Gets Go Ahead on Elms

Can Destroy Trees on City Lands; Board Recommends Control Law

Dutch elm disease, the hot potato being tossed between the park board and the city council, has been passed back to the park board again.

The board of public works Tuesday recommended city park crews remove all dead, decayed, hazardous and diseased trees from city property, including boulevards in front of houses. The work formerly had been done by the street and sanitation department.

The board also recommended preparing an ordinance to cover spreading of Dutch elm disease among trees on private property.

Answer Delayed
Last week, the park board asked the council to give it authority to study the problem. Previously, the council asked the park board to recommend some way of handling Dutch elm disease. No action was taken by either body.

Roger F. Rindt, city tree surgeon, said city trees show

"millions of vortexes," indicating the presence of the fatal elm beetle, but no actual cases of the disease have cropped up.

He said the city must do something immediately to save its 14,500 elm trees, which Larry Fenton, state expert, says are being threatened by the disease.

Budget Request
It is expected the board's recommendation will bring a 1960 budget request for equipment to spray trees. A similar request was turned down by the city council last year.

Meanwhile city crews will trim infected wood from trees on all city property and destroy trees affected severely.

Rindt also reported many cases of scale on elm trees this year. "That's taking up all our time now," he said. The scale menace is not as serious as Dutch disease, but causes the tree to look withered, he explained.

The scale is combatted by spraying and trimming, Rindt said.

The child was the son of Marine Capt. and Mrs. Charles D. Roberts, Jr., of Camp Pendleton and the grandson of retired Marine Brig. Gen. Charles D. Roberts, Sr., of La Jolla.

10 Heifers Killed by Lightning

Wittenberg — Ten of 19 registered 2-year-old Holstein heifers in a pasture at the Carl and David Norrbom farm, route 1, Wittenberg, were killed by lightning early Sunday morning during a severe electrical storm. They were all huddled under a tree.

The estimated loss to the brothers, who recently took over the operation of the dairy farm from their father, Gus Norrbom, was about $5,000 and is only partly covered by insurance.

They have been replacing their herd gradually with registered purebreds and now have a herd of 75. At the time of the accident, five 2-year-olds were being shown at the Wisconsin Valley fair at Wausau.

Lady Day Orchids at Fair Must Face 90-Plus Temperatures

Milwaukee — It was Ladies day at the Wisconsin State fair today with the first 2,000 members of the fair sex who entered the grounds scheduled to get an orchid flown here from Hawaii.

How the delicate flowers would keep in the 90 degree weather on tap, however, was something the women had to determine for themselves.

Despite the 93 degree heat at the West Allis show grounds Tuesday, 62,170 persons passed through the gates.
